

WOULD AMEND INCOME LAW BUT DO NOT FAVOR HAVING REPEAL PUT IN THE PLATFORM OF THE PARTY

DEMOCRATS HAVE EXCITING SESSION OVER QUESTION OF WORDING OF PLATFORM.

KAREL LED IN THE VOTE of the Delegates on Their Vote for Gubernatorial Nomination Last Night—Had All But Two Rock County Votes.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Milwaukee, July 12.—The predicted fight over the income tax law of the democratic state platform reached the floor of the convention today. Throughout the morning sessions on the adherents of the plank endorsing a repeal of the present law and the enactment of a new one and those favoring an amendment to the law waged a debate.

The discussion started after the majority of the committee had reported in favor of the amendment plank. Three members of the council, T. M. Kearney, of Racine, Frank J. Walsh, and George Bollhorn, of Milwaukee, did not sign the report of the committee.

Kearney explained, however, that he favored the amendment plank, but had not signed because he was not in the committee room when the resolutions were drawn up. He was acting as chairman of the convention.

After the reading of the resolutions, Walsh offered as an amendment a repeal plank. The debate was featured by the address of A. J. Schmitz, one of the two candidates for governor endorsed by the convention.

He spoke unqualifiedly in favor of the amendment plank urging that it would be easier to improve the present law than to attempt to pass a new one. "The proposed plank asking the repeal and enactment of a new law is merely a subterfuge for killing the law," he said. "Those who really want an income tax law are more than willing to see it amended."

The other speakers were Paul O. Hustung of Mayville, chairman of the resolutions committee. John A. Aylward of Madison; T. L. Cleary, of Platteville, E. J. Dempsey, of Oshkosh and Bert Williams of Ashland, who favored the amendment plank, and Frank J. Walsh, father of the repeal plank. J. N. Grady, Portage and Harry W. Bollans of Port Washington spoke against it.

With the exception of a few minutes following the question, of the democracy of Hustung by Walsh the convention was orderly.

Walsh's amendment was lost by an overwhelming vote. The platform as presented was adopted.

A recess was then taken until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The program today called for the naming of a candidate for lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, and attorney general. In keeping with the ruling of the organization, Chairman Kearney last night stated that the convention was not bound to in itself to endorse any one candidate for each office.

A. J. Schmitz and John C. Karel were nominated for governor by the committee last night. Both names will go on the primary ballot in Sept. Of the votes for the two men Karel showed 393 and Schmitz 375. The vote for Karel was a great surprise to his followers who had counted on at least 300 votes for him. They state his low vote is due to an attack made by Schmitz from the platform declaring that Karel was a reactionary.

We, the committee on resolutions of the Democratic state convention, do respectfully report the following statement of principles, and recommended the adoption thereof by the convention.

We, the Democratic party in convention assembled, do hereby adopt the following declaration of principles:

National Platform 1. We hereby ratify and affirm the platform adopted by the Democratic national convention held at the city of Baltimore, and pledge to the principles therein enunciated and to the candidates nominated at that convention our hearty and unequalled support. We again affirm our confidence in that great Democratic leader, W. J. Bryan, and commend him for his ceaseless efforts in behalf of the party.

Special Interest 2. No special interest of any kind should find political refuge in the Democratic party. We particularly approve of the action of the Baltimore convention in excluding from the control of the party all those who undertake to use it for their private gain. We believe the party within the state of Wisconsin to be free from such control, and never more so than at the present time. But we realize that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, and we warn the Democratic voters to guard the party carefully against any candidate for state or legislative office whose record or whose backing may be such as to encourage the use of the Democratic party for personal and selfish ends, or whose nomination and support by the Democratic party would detract from the high standing which the party has attained.

Income Tax 3. We affirm our belief in the principle of a graduated income tax as eminently just and equitable. We criticize the present law as imperfect and inequitable in many respects. We therefore pledge ourselves to amend our legislative law at the 1913 session of our legislature so as to remove the obnoxious features complained of and to make its provisions simple and equitable, and to submit the law as so amended to the people of our state for their approval or rejection at the first general election after its amendment.

Economy 4. We condemn the practice of unnecessarily multiplying commissions and appointive officers in the state of Wisconsin not in any sense directly responsible to the people either for their conduct in office or the expenses incident to the administration of affairs through them. Government by appointive officers is not government by the people. It is not contemplated in the constitution of the state or of the country. It is subversive to popular government. It has resulted in our state in a great increase of the expenses of government above its needs when economically administered.

We favor the application of strict business methods to the administration of state affairs. We reaffirm our devotion to the Democratic principle of economy in public expenditures. We pledge ourselves to the consolidation and reduction of existing commissions to a minimum consistent with efficient government.

Municipal Home Rule We reaffirm the declaration made in the state platform of 1910 in favor of municipal home rule.

Natural Resources—Water Power. The Democratic party favors the conservation of all the natural resources of the state for the benefit of the many instead of the few. We believe that the resources of the state are the heritage of all and should be conserved for the benefit of all. Every franchise granted for the erection and maintenance of dams upon navigable waters shall be granted subject to the supervision and control of the state, to the end that the public rights and the public safety may be fully secured. We oppose the granting away in perpetuity of any water power franchises, and believe and recommend that such franchises shall reserve to the state the right of reversion, amendment and repeal, or shall be granted for a limited period only, not exceeding forty years.

Referendum and Recall 7. We pledge our support to the constitutional amendment passed by the last legislature providing for the adoption of the initiative, referendum and recall.

Guaranty of Bank Deposits. 8. We declare in favor of the principle of guarantee of bank deposits.

The convention was scheduled to be called at 9:00 at which time it was expected that the platform would be taken up first.

ADD MILWAUKEE CONVEN- When the afternoon session was called to order less than two hundred delegates were in the hall and it was not until later that the real business began. Two names were nominated for Lieut-Governor, H. A. Moehle of Clinton, and Harry W. Bollans of Port Washington. Andrew Kealy of Hudson was the only nominee for secretary of state. The convention will place a full ticket in nomination to go on the primary ballot in September.

PLAGUE SITUATION IN CUBA UNCHANGED

No New Cases Reported Yesterday—Make War on Rats to Prevent Spread of Disease.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, July 12.—The bubonic plague situation in Porto Rico and Cuba is today reported as unchanged. A patient at Havana suspected of having been infected with the disease died during last night. From San Juan, Porto Rico, it was reported there were no new cases yesterday. The war on the plague carrying rats is going on everywhere throughout the two islands and all American ports where vessels trading with the West Indies touch.

Bubonic plague has made its appearance at Port of Spain, Trinidad. The American consul there today reported one case had developed.

AFFIRMS INTENTION OF KEEPING OFFICE

Robert Valentine, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, Denies Intention of Resigning.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, July 12.—Robert G. Valentine, commissioner of Indian affairs, today said: "I have not resigned and do not contemplate doing so." For several weeks it has been rumored that President Taft had demanded and received Mr. Valentine's resignation. The commissioner's much discussed order forbidding the wearing of religious garb in Indian schools was given as the cause of his alleged resignation.

TAKING TESTIMONY IN MORROW TRIAL

Trial of Woman For Alleged Murder of Her Husband Last December Opened in Chicago Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chicago, July 12.—The taking of testimony began today in the trial of Mrs. Rena B. Morrow, for the alleged murder of her husband, an inventor, on December 2nd. In his opening argument, assistant state attorney Northrup explained that it was a "physical impossibility for a man to shoot himself as the deceased was shot," Mrs. Morrow claimed her husband committed suicide.

STATUE DUKE ROLLO UNVEILED AT FARGO

Presented by City of Rouen, France, to Normans of North America—Replica of One There.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Fargo, N. D., July 12.—In the presence of a great gathering representing the Norwegian population of the entire Northwest there was unveiled today a magnificent statue of Rollo, the first Duke of Normandy. The statue was presented by the city of Rouen, France, to the Normans of North America, through the city of Fargo, and is a memorial and token of regard from one race of men to another through whose veins flows the same blood. The unveiling came as the first event of an attractive program prepared for the annual convention of the Sons of Norway and the biennial seaguest of the Norwegian Singers' Association of America. The joint gathering will be in session here for several days.

The statue unveiled today is a replica of the Rollo statue in the city of Rouen. It pictures the great Viking as he stands, one hand on the hilt of his sword, and the other pointing downward, demanding allegiance and obedience from his followers. The statue is of bronze and stands on a massive granite pedestal.

MORE SPARRING BY FACTIONS OF PARTY

Gov. McGovern Comes Back With Rejoinder To Letter Sent Out By His Opponents in La Follette Camp.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., July 12.—Gov. Francis E. McGovern does not intend to be outwitted by the delegates at the Chicago convention who refused to support him for temporary chairman. A few days ago Attorney James A. Stone of Reedsburg, secretary of the Wisconsin delegation, sent a letter to all the Wisconsin delegates and alternates asking the reasons prompting them to act and vote as they did upon the chairmanship proposition. Gov. McGovern came back with a rejoinder. He has sent a letter to all the delegates and alternates asking for a copy of the information furnished Secretary Stone.

"Mr. Stone did this ostensibly in his capacity as secretary of the delegation," writes Gov. McGovern to the delegates, "but as far as I know, without any authority from the delegates itself and without my knowledge as its chairman. What use he intends to make of the replies I do not know. In the interest of fairness to both sides in that dispute, I wish to ask for a similar statement—either a copy of the one you sent to Mr. Stone or a separate letter as you may see fit."

From La Follette leaders who support Stone's side, it is understood that he has no ulterior motive in asking for the information. He wanted to get these replies, it is said, so that the issue between the two factions in the delegation could be brought out clearly. It is said he had no intention of publishing them and that he asked the delegates who supported McGovern as well as those who did not support him to send in complete replies. One of the delegates who has seen some of the replies received by Mr. Stone says that the issues are set forth in the letters practically the same as they were at the meeting of the Wisconsin delegation before the organization of the Chicago convention.

Every attempt has been made by the delegates to keep the contents of their letters secret, because they claim greater animosity between the two factions would be stirred up if they became generally known. Stone's letter to the delegates was written fully two weeks ago, but the governor's letter has just been mailed out.

SMITH DENIES THAT HE HAS RESIGNED

Commissioner of Corporations Closed Mouthed With Regard To Resigning To Join "Bull Moose" Party.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, June 12.—Herbert Knox Smith, commissioner of corporations who has been reported as about to resign his office that he might be free to join a new party headed by Col. Roosevelt returned to Washington today refusing to discuss his plans.

Mr. Smith declared he had not resigned but to all other inquiries his reply was "I have nothing to say." Secretary Nagel said Mr. Smith had not sent a resignation to him and he had no knowledge of the commissioner's intentions. Commissioner Smith was a member of Col. Roosevelt's cabinet.

Some of his friends say he felt chagrined when President Taft some time ago forwarded the "International Harvester correspondence" to the senate making public the commissioner's recommendation that a prosecution of the company be delayed.

BULL MOOSE PARTY CAN NOT GET ON THE BALLOT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Madison, July 12.—The Roosevelt "bull moose" party cannot get on the general election ballot in Wisconsin as a regular ticket. It can get on the ballot under the individual or non-partisan nomination as provided by the statute, according to a recent opinion by the attorney general under one section amended by the last legislature upon petition of 1,000 electors that party can have five words to explain the principles it represents.

patriotic and unselfish purpose of which Bryan furnished such a magnificent example one week later in the Democratic convention at Baltimore. Instead, he filled the public ear with sound and fury. He ruthlessly sacrificed everything to the one idea of his being the one candidate. He gagged his followers in the convention without putting upon record any facts upon which the public could base a definite, intelligent judgment regarding the validity of Taft's nomination. He submitted no suggestion as to a platform of progressive principles. He clamored loudly for purging the convention roll of "tainted" delegates, without purging his own candidacy of his tainted contests and his tainted trust support. He offered no reason for a third party excepting his own overmastering craving for a third term.

LORIMER ATTACKS OPPONENTS ANEW

Illinois Senator, Defending His Seat in Congress, Attacked Opponents Most Bitterly.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, July 12.—Renewing his attack upon his opponents, Senator Lorimer today began the conclusion of his speech of defense in the senate. He launched once more into an attack on Colonel Roosevelt and characterized as "inaccurate and unreliable" the report of the minority members of the committee that investigated his election.

The attack upon Colonel Roosevelt with which he opened his speech was based on testimony given by George B. Cortelyou yesterday before a senate committee regarding the $1,900,000 campaign fund raised for the republican presidential campaigning in 1904.

Mr. Lorimer referred to Colonel Roosevelt as the "custodian of all the morals of the country, private and public." "Of course," he exclaimed, "not a cent of that $1,900,000 could have been contributed by the predatory wealth of the country. Surely all of it was the free gift of the common people of whom this man is the great champion. No malfeasor contributed to that fund only the common people of whom he was the guardian."

The letter from President Taft to Colonel Roosevelt expressing the hope that Lorimer would be ousted which became public in the pre-convention campaign again was mentioned. Lorimer drew attention to President Taft's phrase emphasizing the "necessity of winning." He declared his enemies had tried to win, "not by a free and fair fight" but by sneaking up behind like a thief in the night.

"Was ever mortal man more completely surrounded by conspiracy and intrigue?" exclaimed Lorimer dramatically. "The president of the United States, Wm. H. Taft, Theodore Roosevelt the ex-president, a former democratic candidate for the presidency, William J. Bryan and the trust press of the country all were in it— all joined in the conspiracy to poison the minds of the citizenship in order that one man might be destroyed to satisfy the malice of the most corrupt set of newspaper owners known to the history of the country."

Mr. Lorimer claimed that the Helm committee of the Illinois legislature was a subterfuge to bring about a certain inquiry by the United States senate. He contended that the Helm inquiry had not been conducted by the Illinois legislature, but by "editor Kohlsaat—the priestly Kohlsaat—John J. Healy, and the Hearst newspapers."

"You cannot strike out the former verdict of the senate," he exclaimed, "and I believe I have a title that has been declared valid."

SAYS ENGLAND MUST UPHOLD HER RIGHTS

Pail Mail Gazette Says Great Britain is Responsible for Rights of World in Panama Canal.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] London, Eng., July 12.—Commenting on the protest of the British government at Washington in connection with the regulations of the Panama canal, the Pail Mail Gazette today contends that Great Britain is in the responsible position of having to uphold not only her own rights, but those of the whole world which depend on the Hay-Pauncefote treaty.

At the same time the Pail Mail Gazette recognizes the entire reasonableness of the American contention that having supplied the capital and the skill to build the canal Americans have the right to every consideration not conflicting with the treaty obligations of the United States.

PUSH WORK ON WEST WING OF CAPITOL

Work Is Rapidly Being Finished in Hope Of Having It Ready For Opening of Legislature in 1913.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., July 12.—Work of finishing the new west wing of the state capitol is being rushed by the contractors in the hope of having the structure ready for the opening of the 1913 legislature. It is absolutely necessary that the senate be housed in the new wing next winter, no other room being large enough for it. Present progress on the building warrants the belief that it will be finished on time. The tile partitions have been placed and the marble facings are being set. The grading of the grounds is nearly done. A kitchen has been installed at the west entrance.

MAY SOLVE MYSTERY OF HEADLESS BODY

Preliminary Hearing of Henri Deslovers Expects to Bring to Light Important Facts.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Woonsocket, R. I., July 12.—The authorities are hopeful that when Henri Deslovers is given a preliminary hearing in court tomorrow some facts may be brought to light that will help the headless body mystery which has greatly agitated all this section of New England for several weeks past. Deslovers has been under arrest since June 30, three days after the decapitated body of Angele Parpenter, with whom he had been living, was found in the Blackstone river. Though the head of the victim has never been found, her identity was established by the finding of a bundle of clothes on the river bank a few hundred yards from where the body was first seen.

Deslovers continues to maintain his innocence of the murder of which he is suspected. He adheres to his original story that the woman disappeared on June 4 and that he did not see her after the early morning of that date. In contradiction of these statements several neighbors are expected to testify at the hearing that the man and woman were heard quarreling on the day the murder is supposed to have occurred and that the couple were seen walking towards the river on the evening of June 4. From this walk the woman is believed never to have returned.

TAX BILLS TO COME BEFORE THE SENATE

Senate Leaders Have Agreed to Take Up Wool, Sugar And Excise Bills After Lorimer Matter is Settled.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, July 12.—Senate leaders tentatively have agreed to take up the democratic wool sugar and excise tax bills as soon as the vote on the Lorimer case is reached and before the Panama canal bill is brought up. Republican leaders predict the tariff bills will delay the Panama bill very little.

The latter seems sure to encounter opposition on which has been stimulated by Great Britain's protest against provisions which are said to violate the Hay-Pauncefote treaty agreement.

The Pepper bill to bring the national guard into closer touch with the regular army has the approval of the war department and has been favorably reported by the house military affairs committee.

Under the bill the federal government would disperse about eight million dollars a year to the ten thousand commissioned officers and the 112,000 enlisted men, of the national guard. The secretary of war and the militia boards of the states would be authorized to work out a plan of cooperation.

WILL FORCE ISSUE IN W-I LEAGUE

Appleton Club Determined to Make Oshkosh and Other Clubs Live up to Rules of the League.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Appleton, Wis., July 12.—The Appleton Baseball club in the Wisconsin-Illinois baseball league, has appealed to the national committee and will force the directors of the league or President Edmiston to take action in its protest against Oshkosh for using outfielder, Sheffield of the W. I. League provided that no rule of the league would be annulled except at the annual meeting or by the unanimous vote of the directors.

At the last annual meeting the resolution was adopted at the instigation of the Oshkosh club prohibiting any club in the league from using a player who belonged to a club in a higher league than class "B" the year before.

Shortly afterward when President G. F. Lemmon of the St. Paul club offered Outfielder Sheffield and Catcher Tragsesser owned by St. Paul to refuse on account of the rule in the W. I. League. Shortly afterward St. Paul made the same offer to Oshkosh, who accepted and this was vigorously protested to by the Green Bay and Appleton clubs. Other teams in the W. I. League are said to be using players which the rules prohibit and that rules relating to salary, limiting the numbers of players, etc., are also being violated by some of the teams.

OHIO STATESMAN GIVEN TERM IN THE PENITENTIARY TODAY

MUCH MONEY SPENT BY THE UNIVERSITY

Two Millions And A Half Spent For State Institutions, Quarter Million Being Spent For Buildings.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., July 12.—Of nearly $2,500,000 spent to run the University of Wisconsin during the fiscal year just closed, about a quarter of a million was expended for new buildings. A financial report prepared by State Treasurer Dahl shows that during the past twelve months the university spent $2,327,127.56, as compared with $582,295.53 spent by the normal schools during the same period.

The largest expenditure by the university was incurred during February, when the drafts amounted to $427,052.15, as compared with $108,095.65 by the normal schools for the same month. The next largest monthly expenditure was in June when $332,379.63 was paid out, as compared with $78,278.50 by the normals. The smallest expenditure by the university was in September, just before the university opened, when only $77,727.38 was spent. The smallest month for the normals was August, $9,536.89.

Last year the university was compelled to borrow $250,000 to keep the institution going until the tax money was received. This money has been repaid. Buildings at the university in the past year cost $217,107.86, books and apparatus, $9,065.96 and the women's dormitory, $13,368.88. During the same period the state normal schools spent about $90,000 for books and apparatus.

WHERE DOES BILL GET HIS INFORMATION?

By J. R. HAMILTON. Former Advertising Manager Wananaker's, Philadelphia.

"Hello, Bill. Where 'u goin' this year? 'I'm goin' first to a little place up the state here about sixty miles. The fishin' up there this year is simply great."

This is an ordinary conversation of an ordinary week-end about a most important subject. The only question is, where does Bill get his information about the "fishin'?"

Bill doesn't know it, but either he or some friend of his has read the advertisement about this particular place. So Bill is going—on second-hand information, it is true—but the chances are Bill will find the fish.

The point to be made is, that advertising is no longer dry and dull. It is informative to the last word. And usually it is true.

Every Railroad in the United States, every Summer Resort, every Amusement Park has learned not only to advertise, but to tell something in its advertising about the pleasures it has in store.

In this way, and by this means, state after state and locality after locality have been popularized and put on the map. Hundreds of thousands of people who have never seen Colorado or the Yellowstone or the Catskills or the Maine Coast, or the hundreds of other wonderful summer places all over this glorious America are just as familiar with them as if they had tramped over every foot of the way.

The Advertising was Bill's source of information, and it ought to be and probably is your source.

Only, why not look for this advertising consciously instead of making it come to you subconsciously or second-hand.

The railroads of America have given millions of people a travel pleasure which they would never have known if it weren't for this kind of advertising. The same is true of every amusement place of every kind.

Of course it makes you spend money, but money wisely spent for pleasure is money well invested. If it doesn't bring happiness, it isn't worth getting.

So turn now first to your merchandise advertising. Find out where to get the best values in your end purchases.

Then look over every line of your travel and amusement advertising and find out where to get the greatest amount of fun.

The most wonderful advancement in America is that people no longer aestivate from June to September. They have learned to live the full twelve months of the year.

YOU'LL only need to glance at these splendid shirts to convince yourself of their wonderful values. They're included in our

MAYOR FATHERS PAYS VISIT TO OSHKOSH

Examined Into Methods And Workings of Newly Established Commission Government There.

Mayor James A. Fathers returned last evening from a business trip to Oshkosh and Green Bay. At Green Bay he attended the annual meeting of the Board of Directors of the Odd Fellows' home in that city, being a member of that board, and at Oshkosh examined into the methods and workings of the new commission form of government, which was inaugurated at the same time as that in Janesville. He found they were succeeding very well in adjusting city business to changed conditions, and had undertaken the work in much the same way as had been done in Janesville. Mayor Fathers had served as the city's head under the old regime and is well acquainted with local needs and problems.

A large amount of street improvement is being done in Oshkosh, much of it repairs to the pavements made by contractors under their contracts with the city. The kind of asphalt and tar macadam pavement laid on some of the streets has not given the best of satisfaction, some of it requiring replacement or repair before the expiration of the contractor's guarantee. Different kinds of pavement is being used, ranging all the way from brick to concrete block, and cedar block laid on concrete base. Oshkosh, says Mayor Fathers, has been very fortunate in receiving valuable gifts from its wealthy citizens. The Beach family recently presented the city with $100,000 and a big track of land for a manual training school, the city to raise $50,000 toward the same project.

The Sawyer family gave to the city a park on the river bank, which the city had docked, and also installed in it a fine public rest house. Mayor Fathers was able to make a close survey of public work in Oshkosh through the kindness of L. F. Thiesen, president of the Oshkosh Soap Company, and a former alderman.

Mayor Ringle of Wausau has invited Mayor Fathers to attend the annual convention of the Wisconsin League of Municipalities there, August 23 to 25. He may find it possible to accept.

WATER POWER INSUFFICIENT; USE STEAM TO CARRY LOAD

But Half Usual Power Developed by Turbines of Janesville Electric Company At Present.

Because of the low water in the Rock River but half the normal amount of power is being generated by the turbines of the Janesville Electric Company and it is necessary to operate the steam engines to help carry the load most of the time. The turbines in the city power house usually receive 4,000 inches of water, but at now receiving but 20,000. The Corlies engine at Monterey was used most of last week, and the Corlies engine in the city plant was started up this morning in its stead. Because of the necessity of hauling coal to the Monterey power house by team it is more expensive to operate the engine there than in the city. The Fulton and Indian Ford plants are being drawn upon for power continuously from 7 A. M. to 11 P. M. It is hoped to have the new steam turbine ready for use next week.

PICNIC OF SUMMER CLUB OF HOUSEHOLD ECONOMICS

Members Were Entertained Yesterday At Milton By Milton Members of the Club.

The members of the Summer Club were entertained in a delightful manner by the Milton members of the club at their home town yesterday. Ladies also coming from Orfordville, Beloit and Whitewater to attend the meeting. Trains, motors and vehicles each brought a merry crowd. The visitors were received by the Milton ladies and conducted to the new gymnasium building where tables were in waiting and a picnic lunch was spread, coffee being furnished by the hostesses. After dinner the regular program was taken up. Seven new members were voted in and a report made of the Philanthropic branch of the club work.

A delightful talk was then given by Mrs. Emma Schmitt of Whitewater. She told of the efforts being made all over the country to protect the birds and much good work had been done in her own town in that direction. Mrs. Hasey of Beloit gave a reading which was much appreciated and was especially appropriate to the audience.

The meeting was then closed by all present, singing America. The next place of meeting will be at Evansville, on August 22.

PARTY OF YOUNG LADIES TAKE OUTING UP RIVER

WILL GIVE JUDGMENT ON WILL CASE ON SATURDAY

Count Judge Sale Will Give Judgment In Re-Examination of Man For Discharge From Asylum.

Judgment will be given tomorrow morning in the county court in the case of Ernest Will of Edgerton, who made application for re-examination as to his sanity to secure his discharge from the Rock county insane asylum. Testimony in the case was heard before Judge Sale in the county court yesterday. The case was not brought on complaint of Mr. Will's wife as was stated last night, but Mr. Will himself sought examination. He was committed to the Mendota asylum in 1901, and after remaining there for a year, was sent to the Rock County asylum as a chronic case. In 1908 he escaped from the county asylum, and has since been teaching school and selling books.

ACQUITTED MAN OF CHARGE OF MURDER

Man Who Killed Former Janesville Resident in Reno, Nev., in Quarrel Over Halter, Freed By Jury.

That a man may shoot and kill another man for kicking him in the stomach and escape punishment for his act is the interpretation of the law in Reno, Nevada, according to William W. Watt of that place, formerly of this city, who writes a letter to the Gazette telling of the acquittal of A. C. Streib for the murder of Albert Dodge, a former Janesville man. Mr. Watt's letter is as follows: Reno, Nevada, July 8, 1912.

Editor Gazette:

After a brief trial here in the circuit court of Washoe county, Nevada, A. C. Streib was acquitted of the murder of Albert Dodge, a former resident of Janesville whom he shot in Reno two months ago following a brief quarrel over the ownership of a halter valued at one dollar. The testimony of witnesses showed that Dodge made a kick at Streib, his foot landing on Streib's stomach. For that alone the jury brought in a verdict of self defense. In fact the law as understood in this section of the far west and in Wisconsin travel in two different directions and while in Janesville this case would never get away from the fact that it was a direct murder in the first degree the prisoner out here is in nine cases out of ten given the doubt in his favor.

SAYS RURAL SCHOOL RETARDS PROSPERITY

Speaker Before National Educational Association Says It Is Far Behind The Times.

Chicago, July 12.—Rural education as now conducted was described as "behind the time" and threatening the prosperity of the farmers by speaker before the N. E. A. today. "In a country whose soil is new we are beginning to import from countries where the soil has been tilled a thousand years," said Warren H. Wilson of New York. "Under the one year lease system farmers could not be expected to spend either money for improving the land or for school houses. They would not build school houses in a community where they were only temporarily located," he said. He quoted figures, purporting to show that the profits of farmers in Iowa depended on child labor.

Cold Storage Cat Meat.

A man down in Massachusetts found a blacksnake frozen in the snow. He took the snake up carefully so that it would not break—it was as stiff as the rod of Moses in the original form—and took it home and put it by the fire. And it thawed out. It wriggled around in the heat and would have been all right again if it hadn't been for the family cat. The cat ate it.

TYNN-WILLY TRIES HARD TO KEEP COOL AND FINALLY SUCCEEDS

Sport Snap Shots

Mrs. Helen Britton, owner of the St. Louis Cardinals, finds that being a baseball magnate isn't all joy. It's enough to make any club owner blue to lose on an average of two games out of three. In addition to that, Mrs. Britton's ground keepers went on a strike a few days ago because she reduced their pay. And the tough part of it was that the strike came just at a time when the Cardinals were home for a long stay.

It took some nerve to say it, but in Chicago the other day Jack Curley, promoter of the Johnson-Flynn fight, declared: "I am positive Flynn can whip all the Patzers, McCarthys and other hopes who are posing as fighters." Curley's mission at Chicago was to arrange several matches for Flynn.

STRUNK NO LONGER UNKNOWN QUANTITY

Amos Strunk.

The name of Amos Strunk is no longer an unknown quantity in the baseball world. There was a time, and it was not so long ago, that the only man in America, besides Strunk himself, who really thought that Strunk had a brilliant baseball future before him, was Manager Connie Mack. He secured the late outfielder in 1903 and farmed him out to the Milwaukee team in the American Association. The next year Mack recalled him. Until this year Strunk was used by the Athletics chiefly as an emergency batter. Now he is playing regularly and doing fine work.

BOSTON AMERICANS PUTTING UP FINE GAME; WILL STAY IN FIRST DIVISION

Manager Stahl and Tris Speaker.

The Boston Red Sox are putting up a fast game of ball this season, and in all likelihood will finish in the first division. The club has a fine pitching staff, and there is a star in almost every other position. Tris Speaker in the outfield deserves special mention. He is making a brilliant record. Manager Stahl put up a fine article of ball at the beginning of the season and took a long rest. Recently, however, he has gotten back into the game and is doing better.

BOY SCOUTS SUMMER CAMP ESTABLISHED IN DISCUSS THROW

Tents Pitched and Stove and Oven Built at Camping Place on Chautauqua Yesterday.

Twenty-one members of the Boy Scout organization in this city spent last night at the newly-established summer camp of the Boy Scouts under Scoutmaster Hans Jacke on the Chautauqua grounds. Camp was established there yesterday afternoon, tents being put up and a stove and oven for outdoor cooking being built. Twelve of the boys are spending their vacation in the camp, while others are making arrangements to go to the camp for a stay, as soon as possible. Those who cannot get away during the day go in the evening to remain over night. The spot where the tents have been pitched is a very pretty one.

George F. Horine.

George F. Horine, of Sanford University, has established a world's record in the running high jump that is likely to stand for some time to come. He cleared the bar at 8 feet 4 1/2 inches and took the record away from Mike Sweney, who established it seventeen years ago.

and is especially appropriate for such use. The tents presents a very neat and businesslike appearance, and the boys are highly pleased with it. Camp routine will be established soon and the boys will be put under discipline, with regular duties to perform at certain hours in addition to the sport they plan. It is an ideal outing for the boys, and as many as can are planning to spend some time at the camp.

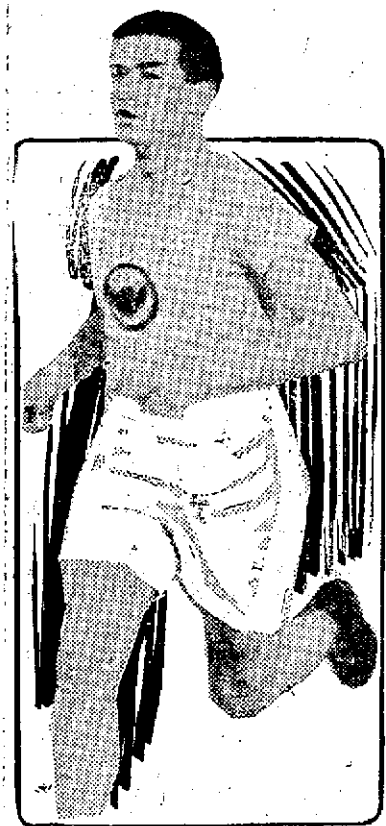

The boys at the camp last night were: Joe Franklin, Eugene Hill, Willie Fern, Phil O'Donnell, Arthur Welch, Harry Fuchs, Fred Korst, Jerry Reger, John Ferguson, Royden Kroz, Stanley Baker, Rupert Oas, Earl Wall, Larson, Bob Siawson, Willard Skelly, Harold Jerg, Malcolm McDermott, Morris Russell and Tracy Allen.

points: Lieut George S. Patten, Jr., U. S. fourth, 41 points; Strammie, Sweden, fifth, 42 points. The Olympic record for the running broad jump was broken by Albert L. Gutterson, University of Vermont, at his first attempt when he cleared 7 meters, 60 centimeters (24 feet, 11 inches and a fraction). The previous best Olympic record was 24 feet 6 1/2 inches made by the American from the Olympic games in London in 1908.

Baby's Lips Not to Be Kissed.
A baby's hand may be kissed, but not a baby's lips. Kisses often convey contagion, especially in the season when colds are prevalent. A cold in the head is a disagreeable malady, and may be the precursor of a cold elsewhere. The person who has it should keep it, and so far as may be possible, establish a strict quarantine lost the cold be given to a friend. Love should be at pains not to spread contagion by a kiss.—Christian Herald.

"The Fall of Blackhawk"

A spectacular war drama not only of general, but of special local interest here amid the scenes of the Blackhawk War.

SEE Chief Blackhawk reluctantly sign away his lands to the whites. See the trouble brewing between the white settlers and the Indians. See Abraham Lincoln receiving news of fighting, and see him before General Winfield Scott with the raw recruits he has himself hastily got together. See Lincoln's recruits disbanded and their leader enlisting as a private. See the meeting of Abraham Lincoln and Jefferson Davis. See five famous Americans on the same battlefields: Abraham Lincoln, Jefferson Davis, Zachary Taylor, Gen. Winfield Scott and Chief Blackhawk. See the story as, with a pretty romance intertwined, it develops into

NO REAL PROBLEM.
Discussion relative to the possible problem which may confront this nation next fall after the election relative to the voting of the members of the electoral college has brought out many interesting facts. The Christian Science Monitor does not believe that there is need for any great anxiety and takes the matter up in the following manner:

"With special reference to the electoral college, it may be said that just at present there is a disposition in many quarters to cross a bridge that has not been and probably will not be reached. It is asserted, for instance, that the constitution is so vague with regard to the duty of the electors as to leave room for serious doubt as to whether the elector, having been chosen by the people, is not a free agent, to the extent at least, of being privileged to vote for whomsoever he pleases. The statement attributed to Thomas W. Latham, nominated by the Ohio state republican convention a week ago as a presidential elector from the fourteenth congressional district, that if elected he will vote for Mr. Roosevelt, notwithstanding that he was chosen by delegates favorable to Mr. Taft, has given additional force to the contention that there is likely to be a serious departure from usage when the electoral college assembles.

"If there is anything vague about the constitutional provisions creating the electoral college, there is at least nothing uncertain about the usage followed in the application of those provisions; but the constitutional provisions, as a matter of fact, are not vague at all. Under these each state chooses a number of electors equal to the whole number of members it sends to both houses of congress. No senator or representative or person holding an office of trust under the United States can be appointed an elector. The electors must be chosen on the same day in all the states, that is, on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November. The electors of all the states constitute the college. After the electors have balloted the votes are counted on the second Wednesday in February in both houses of congress, which meet in the chamber of the representatives. If no candidate has a majority of all the votes, the House of Representatives has a right to choose either of the three persons having the highest number of votes. This is as far as the constitution goes. The general opinion among constitutional students is that it was the purpose of the framers of the organic law to grant the electors free discretion, but it is also the opinion that usage has changed all this and that custom makes it imperative that the elector shall carry out the wish of the party that named him and the voters who elected him.

"A New York contemporary, speaking of the controversy between Hayes and Tilden in 1876, says, 'the issue was finally thrown into the senate and Hayes became president.' The issue was decided by the famous electoral commission, composed of five senators, five representatives and five members of the supreme court. Before this commission was decided

LAUNCH CAMPAIGN IN NEW YORK SOON

James B. Reynolds, of Massachusetts, who has been named as secretary of the Republican national committee, will launch the Republican campaign in New York state within a few days. Secretary Chas. D. Hilles will help him, and they will open headquarters probably in the Metropolitan building in New York City. Reynolds is one of the members of the tariff board.

with little delay the right of an individual elector from Oregon to vote as he pleased, and in the negative. This simply confirmed usage, and before the courts, at least, it is quite probable that each elector, should the issue be raised again, would be compelled, regardless of his personal inclination, to carry out the wish of those who voted for him as nearly as this wish could be determined by the result of the election. Anything short of this, as has been held generally in the past, would lead to endless confusion. To all intents and purposes the elector has long since ceased to be clothed with individual discretion. He accepts his appointment with the knowledge and understanding that he is to be merely an instrument. In these circumstances, there is no good cause for believing that such complications as are bruited can arise out of the coming presidential election.

KAREL THE CHOICE.
Judge John C. Karel was the choice of the majority of the democratic delegates assembled in state convention in Milwaukee, for the nomination for governor on their party ticket. His total vote was 393 to Mr. Schmitz' 375. Rock county had sixteen votes in the convention, fourteen of them going to Mr. Karel and two to Mr. Schmitz. Both gentlemen will go before the people at the September primaries and the winner will make the race against the republican nominee. As usual the democrats met and had a fight as to the qualifications of their possible standard-bearers as though they really expected to win the coming election. It will take lots of hard work, gentlemen, to swing hide-bound republican Wisconsin into the democratic fold despite assurances of many disgruntled republicans. However, Karel is the best man they could choose to make the attempt with.

WHY DIVISION STREET?
Why is North Division street to be paved with brick from Milwaukee to North First street? Why is this street singled out for improvement while other portions of the main thoroughfares of the city need immediate attention much more? These are questions that are being asked on the streets. Of course it would be fine if all the street improvement is made permanent with brick or some suitable material, but why pick out a street that has but one dwelling house on it, but one block long, that will entail heavy expense to the property-owners when graded and which has never been used for anything but exercising horses on and upon which there is practically no demand for traffic? There must be some good reason why this street is chosen and for instance North Bluff street, a block west, is allowed to remain in the condition it is to the city limits.

IT COMES HIGH.
It cost $2,327,127.56 during the past fiscal year to run the Wisconsin state university. Part of this money, however, a quarter of a million, was spent for new buildings, but that still leaves the total way beyond what should be a reasonable figure for the taxpayers to contribute to the school of dreamers that have apparently taken possession of the state institution. On the other hand, the state normals, which are demonstrating their value year by year, received only $682,295.63. There is quite a difference in the cost of maintenance when the real value is considered.

WHYS AND WHEREFORES.
Roosevelt boomers are finding it hard work to explain the whys and wherefores of the need of their new party now that so many of their former leaders are deserting them by the hundreds. The idea of a third term for one man, to soothe his inflamed ambitions, is apparently the only real reason for its being called into existence, and when the public fully realizes the fact they will be loath to aid and abet such a proceeding.

Mr. Crane, the Chicago gentleman who was almost minister to China, but who unfortunately talked too much, is out for Wilson for president. He was one of the financial backers of Senator La Follette's campaign previous to the convention and is evidently out to beat the man who humiliated him for his own indiscretions.

Governor Deneen is going to have a hard time down in Illinois to secure renomination and re-election if the big Bull Moose has his way of putting a third ticket in the field.

LAUNCH CAMPAIGN IN NEW YORK SOON

James B. Reynolds, of Massachusetts, who has been named as secretary of the Republican national committee, will launch the Republican campaign in New York state within a few days. Secretary Chas. D. Hilles will help him, and they will open headquarters probably in the Metropolitan building in New York City. Reynolds is one of the members of the tariff board.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. MOULTON.

According to Uncle Abner, No feller can be more gorial than the one who is about to touch you for a small loan.

A confirmed loafer is always "gettin' the worst of it" in this world. Clothes don't make the man, but the feller with his pants pressed and his shoes polished stands the best show of gettin' the big job.

If a feller wants to find out just how small he really is all he has to do is to look over a map of the world and try to find the village he lives in.

Outside of the musical critics who can't make music, about the most numerous thing in this country is the literary expert who can't get anything published.

Hank Purdy's wife says she never misses him. She must be able to throw straighter than most wimmen.

It seems as though when a feller hasn't got anything else to do he gets up a new brand of toothpaste.

I always like to hear a feller brag that he is a self-made man, for then I know that nobody else is to blame.

The chief smoke nuisance is the wise gink who dispenses good advice in the smoking compartment of the chair car. Saratoga chips should be seen and not heard.

A week in the big league is worth two in the bush.

In matrimony he who hesitates is bossed.

In these days of bridge what is it a wise child that knows its own mother.

It is purty hard to surprise a good poker player no matter what happens.

LOUISIANA ADOPTS RECALL FOR STATE AND PARISHES.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Baton Rouge, La., July 12.—The Louisiana legislature has adjourned after the most exciting session in its history since the lottery was abolished. Governor L. E. Hall, who was elected in April, was pledged to a lengthy reform program, but the law-makers were not in entire accord with his views.

The legislative session, however, resulted in the adoption of the recall for all state and parish officers except judicial, the extension of the commission form of government to all towns of over 2,000 population, and the abolition of a number of unnecessary offices. The income tax amendment was ratified, after its endorsement had been delayed for two years by the opposition of the sugar planters. An extra session of the legislature to complete the reform program is considered probable.

Tailor's Cutting Retort.

A newly elected Australian labor M. P. returns his occupation as "tailor's cutter"—an avocation rarely represented in parliament. Some time ago, says the London Chronicle, Australia had a remarkably eloquent and witty tailor, who became not only an M. P., but a minister of the crown. To him a new governor made this malapropos remark: "I hear, Mr. Jones, you were once a tailor?" "Yes, my lord, I was." "And how are you engaged now?" "Taking your excellency's measure."

Take Life Joyously.

Take life too seriously, and what is it worth? If the morning wake us to no new joys, if the evening bring us not the hope of new pleasures, is it worth while to dress and undress? Does the sun shine on me today that I may reflect on yesterday? That I may endeavor to foresee and control what can neither be foreseen nor controlled—the destiny of tomorrow.—Goethe.

St. Albans, which claims the oldest inhabited house in England, now an inn, is rich in old hostelries. The Penben there dates back to the fifteenth century, though the present building is modern, save for some old woodwork in the coffee room. WARFARE LAUNCHED AGAINST DISEASE.
Wisconsin to Participate in Great International Health Congress.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Milwaukee, Wis., July 12.—At a meeting of the Wisconsin Committee, held in Milwaukee today, plans were perfected for the participation of this state in the International Congress of Hygiene, to be held in Washington in September.

"It is expected," according to the secretary, T. L. Harrington, of Milwaukee, "that this Congress will have a tremendous influence in improving the health conditions under which we live, and in directly reducing the number of deaths and cases of preventable illness. When the International Congress on Tuberculosis was held in 1908, nothing had been done up to that time in combating consumption in Wisconsin. The splendid accomplishments that have come about directly in fighting the White Plague, will undoubtedly be duplicated in the other preventable diseases which include typhoid, pneumonia, the contagious diseases of childhood, diarrhoeal disease of infancy, etc."

Amongst the Wisconsin agencies which will participate in the Congress, are the State Board of Health, the Dairy and Food Commission, the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association, the State Industrial Commission and various other organizations.

The committee, which consists of C. A. Harper, Madison; T. L. Harrington of Milwaukee; Hugo Reich of Sheboygan; Mrs. Julian Kurtz of Milwaukee and Mr. J. D. Beck of Madison, is securing information upon the exact amount of space which will be made available for the Wisconsin exhibit.

The committee will attempt to make the exhibit indicate what is being done and is under way for the control of preventable disease and the reduction of industrial accidents.

Intermarriage in Brittany.

In accordance with the custom which has made the picturesque province of Brittany famous, twenty-six couples were married at once, at Plougastel, one recent morning. In the village there are only some eight or nine family names, and the village folk never marry outside of their community. Last year there were forty-two marriages.

Gigantic Loaves of Bread.

The biggest loaves of bread baked to be eaten are those made in France or Italy. In the case of the pipe bread of the latter country, the loaves are between two and three feet in length, and occasionally even longer; while the French people make their loaves in the shape of very long rolls of bread ranging from four to five feet, and in a few instances over six feet in length.

Fads and Fashions

New York, July 9.—Now, that the summer season has at last begun in earnest, it is quite timely to speak of the latest styles in outing apparel, especially for the younger women and girls. There are many new and attractive things in motoring and riding costumes, but they differ principally in the matter of material, not so much in cut.

Outing hats of all kinds are rather more interesting than usual this season. To be sure, there is little that is absolutely new in shape, but new materials and combinations of materials and new tricks of trimming are in evidence. The eponge which is so prominent as frock material and trimming has been used for outing hats too, and is blocked into all the small, close fitting roll brim shapes. The wide wale pique and cotton corduroy are treated in the same way and the regulation corduroy too is used, particularly in the soft light browns.

Then there are combinations of straw and eponge, straw and linen, straw and white felt. Sometimes both the straw and the other materials are white. Sometimes a hemp braid of gay blue, a soft white felt and faces its brim. Panamas are as popular as ever and there are other, cheaper, supple straws blocked in the roll brim Panama shapes.

Sailors with crowns and brims in varying degrees of height and width are shown in rough straws and in soft felt. Tussor, taffeta, quaint flowered silks, linens and cretonnes are all used for the stitched outing hats and for stiffer shapes in combination with straw.

Clever little tennis hats of the round close crown and narrow rolled and rim type are made in soft white felt or other soft material and have two tennis rackets, made from fine dark blue silk braid or cord, crossed on the front of the crown for the only trimming.

Sweaters of the knitted kind are being hard pressed by the blazers and Norfolk and Mackinaws, and perhaps for that reason have taken on many new variations. The English sweater coat on severe coat lines but knitted or woven to stimulate knitting in soft Angora wool is considered very modish for real service and comes in attractive leather mixtures and in the soft grays, browns and greens.

Very light weight sweaters of very fine fleecy Angora wool are shown and silk knitted sweaters as well as wool sweaters with collars, cuffs and pocket bindings of knitted silk in contrasting color are popular. The college and club color stripes used for the gay blazer coats are echoed in knitted sweaters.

The blazers are being done to death and many of them are too crude in coloring to be becoming, but they do brighten a summer outdoor scene, and worn with white skirts and little stitched hats of the stripe with rolled brim of white are gay and jaunty for youthful wearers. Less spectacular are the loose, comfortable Norfolk in soft wool. They are ample, well supplied with pockets and of bright, solid color, red or green or blue. White Norfolks of white and black check or stripe or fleck, of mixed tweeds, of corduroys or any material of sporting wear are sanctioned by the fashion makers.

The plain and plaid Mackinaws with or without hoods belong in the Norfolk class and have been worn by college girls for several years, but have only this season come into general use. The college girls too have popularized the black rubber coat and souwester for rainy weather wear, and while the costume might not look well on Fifth avenue it has much to commend it for sporting uses, making the wearer more secure against heavy rain than any of the dressier raincoats and more conventional hats.

For tennis wear any simple linen, or serge or cotton frock will do, provided the skirt or blouse allow perfect freedom of movement. The accordion-plaited skirts, once more in fashion, are pretty and comfortable for tennis if made in soft material, and the short, loose sleeve, wide at bottom, which is seen on many of the summer morning frocks, is just the thing for tennis.

White linen gowns decorated with open embroidery and cut out designs are worn over black mousseline slips as a lining. With these are worn fashionable girdles with two long, narrow sash ends of black velvet or satin. A very effective gown is made for wearing over a princess slip of black mousseline. The bottom of the dress is a flounce of fine lace, and above is a tunic of Venice lace and the surplice waist is of the same lace with a chemisette or vest of fine thread lace.

With the return of the directorie fashions comes the inevitable sash. Most women will welcome this fact, for sashes greatly improve any frock with which they are worn. Black velvet or satin is the material most favored for the sash-girdle. The wide waist belt is formed of soft folds. The long sash ends are of odd lengths, falling from the side or back of the dress. These ends may be embroidered with plain black or in colors, using an Arabian design. The corners may be rounded or cut diagonal. Fringe is sometimes used to border the ends. A charming sash to wear with sheer lingerie frocks was of palest pink satin, the first tint from the ivory-white. This was pleated in soft folds about the waist and caught at the left side by a garland of small pink and blue rosebuds and foliage fashioned of ribbons.

Ruchings of silk are used in every conceivable manner and upon all kinds of garments. Taffeta makes the prettiest ruches.

Flesh colored yokes with close collars are worn with evening gowns, which are cut very delectable.

Many bodies are cut very low with the space filled in with lace ruches. Flounces are appearing, but they are kept scanty. Now flounces on taffeta skirts are cut to be stitched on fairly and the lower edge cut in scallops or petals and self-bound.

The correct belt for the plain tailored frock of light-weight serge, checked worsted, coarse-meshed linen or crash is a patent leather strip of from one to two inches in width, which fastens with a colonial buckle of highly polished gold.

WRECKED AUTO, WOUNDED MAN AND DAINTY NURSE FIGURE IN A GEORGIA ROMANCE

Mrs. Sidney G. Jones.

When Sidney Carswell Jones, who is in the automobile business in Waynesboro, Ga., was the victim of an automobile accident which resulted in his leg being broken, he felt that he was in hard luck. He was taken to an Augusta hospital for treatment, and looked forward to many dreary weeks there.

But as fate would have it, there was engaged as nurse in this hospital at the time one Miss Mitchellson, a most bewitching young woman. She appeared extremely attractive to Jones as, arrayed in her cap and uniform, she attended him while his troublesome limb was mending. He had soon developed a very serious affection of the heart, which made his other wound look insignificant.

To make a long story short, there was a wedding in Waynesboro not long ago. Miss Mitchellson had agreed to act as Jones' nurse during the rest of his life. Jones says that although he suffered greatly with the injury he received, he has never found it in his heart to feel unkindly toward the defective auto tire, the bursting of which brought his wife to his arms.

Green is tremendously fashionable this year and to the popular priced jewelry have been added imitation jade necklaces, earrings and brooches which bid fair to outdo coral in popularity.

Soft collars for morning wear are made up in Bedford cords, ruffled and natural and white pansees with colors embroidered in harmonious designs. Collar and cuff sets of ruffine in crushed strawberry, tan, Delft blue, etc., have bells to match.

Because of the vogue of the toilet de Jouy effect there has been a sort of reflected vogue for the more showy pompous patterns. These, in silk and in chiffon, are employed for dressy costumes in combination with lace flounces and panier ideas.

Real Difficulty.

It is not difficult to tell the truth; the difficulty is to get the truth believed.

Floating Cannery.

A new phase of scientific management has been put into operation out on our progressive Pacific coast by the conversion of the good old ship Glory of the Seas into a floating cannery of salmon. There is the whole proceedings right on one floating spot—catching, cleaning, cooking, canning, boxing and then, when the hold is full of the season's pack of cases, a tow of the factory into port and the market.

Three Kinds of Men.

There are three kinds of men in the world—those (the best) who make jokes, those who can enjoy jokes, and those (the worst kind) who attempt to explain jokes.—G. K. Chesterton, in London Daily News.

There are always bargains to be found in the want ad columns.

The barometer continues low on the North Atlantic coast. Rain has fallen along the entire Atlantic seaboard, the following heavy falls being recorded during the past 24 hours: Atlantic City, 2.54 inches; Boston, .32;

Washington, .32; and Knoxville, 1.54 inches.

The area of low barometer in the Northwest is moving rapidly eastward, attended by cloudiness, showers, and thunderstorms. Heavy rains occurred in the Red and Saskatchewan valleys, Moorhead reporting 1.06 inches, Winnipeg 1.56, and Qu'Appelle 1.34. Fair, cool weather prevails in the Rocky mountain and North Pacific states.

The Gyroscope.

When the movement of the gyroscope attains a high degree of speed it is very difficult to displace the plane of the top, which balances itself in the most unlikely positions. An attachment of this kind, but of very large dimensions, if placed on a wagon or a boat, gives the vehicle extraordinary stability. Trains resting on a single line of wheels set under the middle of the car have attained high speed during recent experiments in Germany and have proved perfectly stable.—Harper's Weekly.

Guiding Angels.

We speak with awed tenderness of our guardian angels; but have we not all had our guiding angels, who came to us in visible form, and recognized or unknown, kept beside us on our difficult path until they had done for us all that they could?—Lucy Larcom.

Harm Done by the Apathetic.

It is the apathetic people who will not take up the burden of the day who are doing real harm to the country.

PLAN WEEKLY STORY HOUR FOR CHILDREN

Mother's Club of Evansville Will Establish Story Hour at the Public Library.

Evansville, July 12.—The Mother's Club have decided to establish a children story hour to be held in the library, and the committee have secured the services of the following young ladies to conduct the hour: The Misses Adelaide Evans, Kathleen Calkins, Ethel Frost, Amy Perry, Lola Acheson, Jennie Crow, Lulu Van Patten, Alma Brunzell, Marion Purinton, Clara Richardson, Ruth Winston, Leila Shreve, Beulah Day and Florence Lewis.

The story hour is especially intended for children under the sixth grade and the only requirements are prompt attendance and good behavior. If mothers consider that to gain the child's interest in the story, it is important that they hear it from beginning to end, the first requirement will be met and go a long way toward securing the second.

The first story will be given by the Misses Adelaide Evans and Kathleen Calkins next Wednesday afternoon from three to four o'clock.

A meeting of the young ladies who are to conduct the "Hour" is called for Friday afternoon in the library hall to talk over the work for the summer.

PHONY CHECKS WERE PASSED AT CLINTON

Farm Hand Working Near Clinton Alleged to Have Obtained Money by Giving Worthless Checks.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Clinton, July 12.—Albert Miller, who has been working for Ralph Miner on the farm near this city, is wanted by the local police and bank authorities for obtaining money on checks to which Mr. Miner's name had been forged. Miller came to town a few days ago to do some trading and was given a check for seven dollars on the Citizen's bank by Mr. Miner. It was cashed at the bank by Miller upon arriving in town and he then went to the store of J. A. Hamilton, and it is alleged tendered a check for seven dollars, signed R. M. Miner, in payment for a pair of overalls which he purchased for $1.25. The check was taken and cashed given. Miller then went to F. B. Reeder's store and purchased a razor for two dollars and it is alleged tendered a similar check there. When the checks were turned in at the bank, Assistant Cashier Herron became suspicious that something was wrong, and telephoned to Mr. Miner, who notified him that only one check had been made out to the man. Miller's whereabouts are unknown.

Word was received in Clinton yesterday that Simon Smith had concluded to again run for assemblyman and as a regular Taft republican.

Dr. C. W. Collier has been appointed a director of the Creamery Supply Manufacturing Co., in place of G. M. Reeder resigned.

Mrs. Perry H. Woodward assisted by her sister, Miss Edith Turner and Mr. Charles Christy, entertained a large number of little boys and girls at her home yesterday afternoon in honor of her two little nieces, Mary Emery and Edith Moore-Lewis of Anderson, Indiana.

Hiram Proctor of Janesville, was here yesterday afternoon to see his cousin, O. L. Woodward.

M. J. Silven arrived Wednesday, at midnight from Hope, Ark. Oscar H. Woodward of Waukegan, was here last evening to see his brother O. L. Woodward, who is in a very serious condition.

The lady speakers representing the woman suffrage cause drew a much larger crowd last evening than when the same speakers appeared here a year ago.

Censorship in Russia.

It is pleasant to learn—the story is current in many a Russian household—that the cookery books which had been condemned because a recipe contained the words "perfect freedom," words which were used in reference to some culinary process, have escaped further mutilation and have been selling without hindrance. On the other hand the list of books which continue to be suppressed is long and varied.

Mr. and Mrs. George Courtney visited over the Fourth in Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

When He Quits.

"Do you recall a funny incident of our parade last year?" asked a suffragist of a newspaper man. The scribbler lied like a gentleman, and said that he saw nothing humorous about the 1912 demonstration. "Well," said the apostle of equal political rights, "we had to hire a few men to carry banners. One of these 'oppressors' picked up a guidon, took his place in line and started. He was booed and jeered for several blocks, and it finally occurred to him to turn his sign around and look at it. It read: 'Men vote! Why shouldn't we?' He quit right there."—New York Tribune.

Loving Friends.

Never cast aside your friends, if by any possibility you can retain them. We are the weakest of spendthrifts, if we let one drop off through inattention, or let one push another away, or if we hold aloof from one through petty jealousy or heedless slight or roughness. Would you throw away a diamond because it scratched you? One good friend is not to be weighed against the jewels of earth.

Practical Motor Ship.

Without funnels, coal, firemen and smoke the forerunner of the new motorship has arrived. The Danish East Asiatic Company has made a practical test with a new boat of ten thousand tons displacement. The ship is an oil burner and is, in fact, an immense motor boat driven by engines somewhat similar to those in use upon motor cars. The engine room has the advantage of plenty of light, no oppressive heat, and but little noise. Its oil tanks, at the keel, carry sufficient fuel for a cruise around the world.

A Safe Rule.

Tea and coffee should not be given to a child under seven, and the longer the delay the better. A good cocoa is often enjoyed, milk and water and diluted condensed milk may also be given, and very cautiously, plain soda water. It should never be forgotten that milk is a food and not a drink, and that plenty of water flushes the kidneys. There is no reason why a healthy child should not drink when it feels thirsty.

FALLING OFF SHOWN IN CROP CONDITIONS

Set Back Crops But Recent Rains Have Aided Growth.

A slight falling off in nearly all of the growing crops, compared with May conditions, is shown by the state crop report of July 1, issued by the state board of agriculture today. The continued dry weather during the entire month of June is blamed. The general rainfall throughout the state the past few days, however, has materially improved the situation, and conditions are favorable at the present time.

Conditions of the principal crops in the northern division are as follows: Winter wheat, 88 percent; spring wheat, 87; winter rye, 83; spring rye, 89; barley, 83; oats, 87; corn, 81; potatoes, 98; cabbage, 92; sugar beets, 96; tobacco, 75; tame hay, 92; alfalfa, 86; pastures, 90; apples, 75; yield per acre, alfalfa, 2 1/2 tons; hay, 1 1/2 tons.

Central division: Winter wheat, 91 percent; spring wheat, 84; winter rye, 89; spring rye, 83; barley, 88; oats, 86; corn, 77; potatoes, 88; cabbage, 111; sugar beets, 89; tobacco, 75; tame hay, 90; alfalfa, 89; pastures, 80; apples, 52; yield per acre, alfalfa 2 tons, tame hay 2 tons.

Southern division: Winter wheat, 87; spring wheat, 86; winter rye, 91; spring rye, 86; barley, 91; oats, 91; corn, 77; potatoes, 77; cabbage, 84; sugar beets, 96; tobacco, 80; tame hay, 79; alfalfa, 86; pastures, 87; apples, 38; yield per acre, alfalfa, 1 1/2 tons; tame hay, 1 ton.

Weather conditions have not been favorable for corn, and in some localities considerable damage has been done by cut worms, the counties showing the largest acreage showing an average of 77 percent.

The drought during the month of June has affected the condition of tobacco perhaps more than any other crop. The average condition as reported from the principal tobacco centers being 80 percent.

Reports on cabbage indicate a heavy increase in acreage in some localities. This is particularly the case in Outagamie county, where it is reported that some farmers have planted as high as thirty acres.

LARGE SUM CONTRIBUTED
FO MCKINLEY MEMORIAL.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Niles, O., July 12.—Twenty-five thousand dollars has been subscribed towards a fund of $100,000 which it is proposed to raise for the building of a magnificent memorial here in honor of the late President William McKinley, who was born in Niles. The memorial will take the form of an auditorium. Associated in the movement for its erection are Myron T. Herick, former governor of Ohio and now ambassador to France; James Boyle, who was for some years Mr. McKinley's secretary; J. G. Schmidlapp, the Cincinnati banker, and John G. Milburn of Buffalo, an intimate friend of President McKinley and in whose house he died.

Parents of Mabel Griffen Walker Ask
That She Be Arrested and Change Mind When Police Come.

A family scrap in which the entire family turns and fights the police was the unusual diversion to which three members of the Janesville police were invited at midnight last night. Mr. and Mrs. Michael Griffen, disapproving of their daughter, Mrs. Mabel Walker, staying away from home, and passing her time at a house at the corner of Wall and Madison streets, requested the police to come and arrest her. Late in the evening they came to the house where she was staying, and the police were telephoned that a free-for-all scrap was in progress there. Officers Thomas Morrissey, Sam Brown and Harry Smith went out. When they attempted to load Mrs. Walker into the patrol wagon her parents charged their mind, and resisted and abused the police, with the result that the entire family was brought to the station. Determined to sift the matter to the bottom the police also arrested George Pixler, the man occupying the house.

This morning, after the snafu had cleared away, the situation was carefully and thoroughly investigated. The police found no reason why they should take sides in the quarrel of the Griffen family and dismissed them. On the promise of Mr. Pixler to leave town serious charges against him were withheld. Complaint has been made by people living in the vicinity of the Pixler house that it has been the resort of disreputable characters and that noise and disturbances there have been frequent.

At the High School.

At the high school today the Rock county school board convention was held, a large number of the school clerks and members of the school boards of Rock county being present. An interesting program was arranged for the occasion with addresses by prominent speakers, and some time was given over to the discussion of problems brought up by the speakers, and problems that arise in the work of the clerks and school board members. Among the speakers were Principal F. J. Lowth, who told of the work of the "Rock County Training School;" J. B. Borden, assistant state superintendent, who spoke on "School Laws of Interest at the Present Time;" S. G. Lindholm of the state board of public affairs, who discussed "School Reports;" W. E. Larson, rural school inspector, who talked on the subject, "Coming Problems in Our Rural Schools;" and Miss Elizabeth Herfurth of Madison, secretary of the teacher's retirement fund board, who explained the law with regard to teachers' pensions.

Example of Folly in Litigation.

A suit growing out of a fire set in a patch of heather and involving damages fixed by one judge at $1.25, has been fought through six courts in England, finally reaching the court of appeal.

To Preserve Meat.

Any kind of fresh meat may be kept as long as wanted by being sliced and put in glass preserve jars roasting hot. The gravy should be put in, too.

SAFETY APPLIANCE
EXHIBIT SECURED

Commercial Club Has Secured Exhibit of State Industrial Commission For Two Weeks
Commencing July 17.

Under the auspices of the Commercial club of this city, an exhibition of photographs, drawings and blue prints of safety appliances for use in factories and other places of business, will be held in this city for two weeks, commencing Wednesday, July 17. The exhibition is the property of the Wisconsin Industrial commission of Madison, of which C. H. Crownhart, J. D. Beck and John R. Commons are the members. The industrial commission, which takes the place of the office of Labor Commissioner, has been in conference with representatives of laborers as well as manufacturers and employers, has formulated certain rules as to safeguarding machinery to avoid accidents. Manufacturers are given a reasonable time after these notices have been sent out to install these safeguards, but in some cases the commission has to take measures to see that they are carried out. In this connection, in order to illustrate the kind of safety appliances necessary, the commission has prepared a set of photographs and blue prints of these devices.

Through the efforts of Secretary F. E. Lane of the Commercial club, the exhibition will be held in this city at the assembly room in the city hall. Invitations have been sent out by the Commercial club to manufacturers and employers in this city and nearby towns to attend the exhibition, and they have been cordially invited to inspect the exhibits. The commission will have men at the exhibition hall throughout the day and evening to show the visitors about and to explain anything with relation to the exhibits. On Wednesday, July 24, the three commissioners, Messrs. Crownhart, Beck and Commons, will give lectures at the hall with regard to the safety appliances.

Wise Scotch Laddie.
A Scotch lad had his leg injured at a factory, and was treated for some time by the doctor without much favorable result. His mother had great faith in a local bone-setter, and wanted her son to go to him; but the boy objected, preferring, as he said, the "reg'lar faculty." Finally, however, he yielded to his mother's persuasions and was taken to the town where the famous bone-setter resided. The leg was duly examined, and it was found necessary to pull it very severely, in order "to get the bone in," as the quack expressed it. The patient howled in agony, but at last the bone was "got in," and he was bidden to go home. In a few days he would be all right, and could resume work.

"Didn't he do it well?" said the joyous old lady, as they started home again. "Yes, he did, mother," said the lad; "he pulled it well; but I was na sic a fool as to gie him the sair leg!"

TOUR OF COUNTY IS MOST SUCCESSFUL

Votes For Women Appears to Appeal to the Voters Throughout The County.

The Political Equality League are realizing quite a triumphal march these days, cheers greeting them as they pass in the yellow draped auto with "Woman's votes" in large letters announcing them; and the reception of the country people everywhere is cheering indeed.

On Saturday evening the meeting will be held in Janesville at the City Hall square and it is expected that Miss Grimm will be greeted by a large audience.

Miss Grimm finds this touring not much of a picnic, but downright arduous labor, making three lectures a day this hot weather. It is not simply a harangue of words with her and a string of statistics produced phonographically. One feels that she is giving her own vital spirit. She is so earnest in this work. It is wonderful, the enthusiasm she produces wherever she goes. She will ignite any sort of dead matter.

It is no ordinary spectacle to see a young woman of her personality, together with dramatic talent standing in an auto, and with flags of the various nations in her hand, one by one, tell of the countries which are ahead of the United States in giving woman her just rights.

She keeps everyone on the qui vive, wondering what she will say next, and there are bursts of laughter all around from men and women alike, and remarks like:

"That woman is all right," "say, she certainly can deliver the goods," and everyone to the most stubbornly non-committal on the start, are apparently her staunch supporters at the finish.

She has the assistance this week of Miss Minnette Baum, who is with her heart and soul, the two having been students together at the University of Chicago. Miss Baum is also a highly talented young woman, having besides her university education in this country, finished abroad in the University of Paris, and in Germany.

As Miss Grimm gave testimony of the twenty-six measures in Colorado, promoting public betterment, as a result from woman's vote, last night in one of her talks, a cheer rang out from "Yes, that's every word true, for I lived in Colorado, and know every word of that is so."

Shoppers and Clinton were the towns lectured in last night. Miss M. Clark, Miss Louise Merrill, and Mrs. J. L. Woolson being of the party with the speakers.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY WAS ENTERTAINED UP RIVER

Members of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of Carlgill Methodist church were entertained by Mrs. E. W. Lowell yesterday afternoon at her cottage up the river. Thirty-five of the members went up the river in launches. Under the leadership of Mrs. J. E. Lane the society took up the study of the topic, "Educational Work in Japan." Refreshments were served, and afterwards Miss Grace Reynolds entertained the ladies with several readings. The society yesterday appointed a committee to pack a Christmas box for one of the orphanages.

THE SALE YOU'VE BEEN WAITING FOR

A CLEARING OUT SALE in which the prices named are for the sole purpose of effecting a speedy stock reduction. This is the most interesting clearance sale you've ever been invited to attend in Janesville. A sale that names prices far lower than we've ever quoted on such thoroughly fine goods. A larger sale, not only in point of value but in breadth of assortment. More suits, more styles, more fabrics, more patterns, more colors—all of the very finest order.

$27.50 to $30 Suits $18.50

A great number of two and 3 piece suits in the lot, made from the very finest foreign and domestic fabrics, worsteds, chevots and tweeds as well as all short lots of blue and black unfinished worsteds in two and three button styles—a great many English models. Lined with best quality of material, tailored by hand, designed by Hirsh-Wickwire and their equals, in all sizes, our regular $27.50 and $30 suits, now clearing at $18.50

$20 and $22.50 Suits $16.25

YOU are a fair judge of values even though you are not a clothing man; you know when you are getting your money's worth—when clothes fit good and feel right. In this lot you have the assurance of quality for at this price at Rehberg's only the highest grades of clothing are sold; in addition Rehberg's styles are authentic, and values indisputably greater, as evidenced by the superb lines of men's and young men's suits at $16.25

$16.50 and $18.00 Suits $12.75

ALL from our regular stock, most of them very recent arrivals. Pure wool black unfinished worsteds, fancy worsteds, smart tweeds, handsome chevots—every good fabric, new color, smart weave, correct pattern. Two and three piece suits, single or double breasted coats with soft English lapels or square shoulder effects, two and three button styles, all sizes. Our regular $16.50 and $18.00 suits, clearing at only $12.75

$14.00 and 15.00 Suits $10.50

JUST the right materials—the right patterns—the right colors. It's a sale in which the value is higher than the price. It's about as thorough a low priced suit sale as you've ever seen. Styles for college young fellows who like to cut a swath and young fellows in the College of Experience who have to. Regular padded shoulder models and new English models, lots of them with soft rolling lapels tailored to their shape properly $10.50

$25.00 Suits at $17.50

Here's a sale that will receive splendid recognition—one that upsets every notion of how cheaply fine suits can be bought. The price is $17.50 and by stating the values modestly and modestly, we tell you they're worth $25—we'd really be justified in saying they are worth more. We can't possibly over-emphasize their fineness—every little characteristic of hand tailoring is theirs—hand felled edges, collars, etc. They're typical custom productions in every smart 2 and 3 button model. It's a sale for men and young men, wearers of every size. We want you to examine these suits with a critical eye—you'll appreciate their character if you do. Over a hundred of these $25 suits for you to choose from at $17.50.

HIPS WERE CRUSHED BY VICIOUS ANIMAL

John Reed of Avalon May Die of Injuries Received When Stallion Kicked Him Wednesday.

John Reed of Avalon, eighteen years old, had both of his hips crushed and sustained possibly fatal injuries Wednesday when he was kicked by a vicious stallion at the home of his brother, Archie Reed, one mile and a half east of Avalon.

Young Reed lives in Avalon but was at his brother's yesterday. The stallion was in the barn and it is not known just how the accident occurred as the boy has not been able to tell a coherent story yet on account of his injuries. He was in the barn with the animal when it kicked at him with both feet, striking him on the hips and crushing both of them. The boy was found by his brother, who was attracted by the lad's groans. He was taken to the house and a doctor was summoned. The physician today holds out hope for the boy's recovery, although he says the lad's injuries are very dangerous. Mr. Reed attended school at Clinton.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES.

CYRUS W. FIELD.

By Howard L. Rann.

THIS is the twentieth anniversary of the death of Cyrus W. Field, the inventor of the Atlantic cable. Cyrus was a son of a New England minister who offered to teach him the trade and loan him some of his best sermons, none of which ran over three hours and forty minutes in length except the one used on "Changegiving Day," but Cyrus objected to collecting his own salary with oyster suppers and pound socials and went to New York, where he hired out as a clerk. A little later he made the acquaintance of the Morse telegraph code and became so expert in its use that he could fall asleep at the receiver just in time to throw the fast mail into an open switch. Field's first ocean cable was thrown across to Newfoundland, and proved very successful in giving the market quotations on smoked halibut, home-grown codfish and Newfoundland potatoes.

Field then proposed to bring England closer to the center of civilization by running a copper wire into her basement, thus enabling her to get stung on American railroads and securities with more frequency and he started out with considerable agility. He had hard luck at first. No sooner would he get the cable tied around some English promontory than it would break and interrupt somebody who was trying to send a $24 toll message, and after this had been repeated three times people became so disgusted that they couldn't see a half-ton out of Field in the newspaper without throwing off some very sulphurous remarks. But Cyrus was not discouraged. The war broke out just as he was trying to interest capital for a fourth attempt, but as most of the moneyed men of the north had their spare change tied up in government contracts and gun-powder which couldn't be exploded with an axe, he was not able to finish his great work until they had cashed in. Cyrus W.

Field's life ought to be an inspiration to every man who gives way to despondency the minute his potato patch or best girl goes back on him. He proved that the man who grits his teeth and hangs on will land up among the leaders.

FUNK-WAITE WEDDING HELD AT LA PRAIRIE WEDNESDAY

Ceremony Performed At Home Of Bride-To-Reside On Farm Near Clinton—Other La Prairie News.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] La Prairie, July 11.—Miss Alice Funk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Funk and Clara Waite of Clinton, were united in marriage on Wednesday evening, July 10, at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Horton of the Shopiere M. E. Church. Vivian Oakley returned home with her mother after spending the Fourth with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Oakley, and after spending one day with her grandmother, Mrs. P. Haas of Janesville.

HOT WEATHER IS QUICK TO AFFECT THE BOWELS

Well-Known Fact That Extreme Heat Conduces to Chronic Constipation.

The disposition to eat cold food and indulge in iced drinks is one reason why constipation and diarrhoea is so prevalent in summer, and there is no time when people should more carefully avoid bowel disturbances, as much serious disease is directly traceable to these conditions. We need all of our strength to withstand the enervating effect of heat.

To regulate the bowels and quickly relieve even the most aggravated case of constipation, the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is highly recommended by all who have ever used it. Unlike cathartics and violent purgatives, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin acts gently on the stomach, liver and bowels, without griping or other discomfort, bringing relief in an easy, natural manner. It can be used with perfect safety by the most delicate woman or child, and yet is equally effective for the strongest constitution. Mild, pleasant to take, and inexpensive, it is the ideal family laxative. By cleansing the bowel tract thoroughly and eliminating the foreign matter and poisons that irritate and inflame, it will quickly check summer diarrhoea and restore normal conditions.

Druggists sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for fifty cents a bottle—a larger, family size, costs one dollar. Get a bottle and keep it in the house; it will save many times its cost. In doctor bills. A free trial bottle, postpaid, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 406 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

A Business Girl's Vacation Resolutions

BEFORE planning my vacation, I will carefully study what is my greatest vacation need.

If change will be most beneficial, I will plan something that will be the exact opposite of my usual mode of living.

If I need rest, I will choose a quiet place, and will not stay up half the night and labor at play half the day.

Whatever I decide upon, I will try to get from it some refreshment for the spirit as well as for the body.

I will not spend more than I can afford. To mortgage the winter for the sake of the summer, unless physical recuperation actually requires it, is poor business.

I will not indulge in idle gossip. I gain nothing and acquire a bad habit.

I will not be envious. This spirit within will undo much of the physical good I may get from my vacation.

I will try to be attractive and pleasing in appearance, but I will not give all my time to dress.

Although I am out for my own pleasure, I will try to give some thought to others; and in such little ways as I can, minister to their comfort and pleasure.

I will not make acquaintances carelessly. Companionship that yields nothing is a waste of time. There are plenty of people with whom association is an inspiration.

I will take a little time to study the trend of my life and my work.

If I am not finding satisfaction in my work, I will try while I have time to think quietly, to discover why, and to see if I can better it.

I will compare my present position and abilities with those of a year ago, and see if I am making headway, standing still or retrogressing.

If I am not progressing, I will try to discover the causes and remedy them so as to go ahead in the year to come. For progress is life.

I will try to see if my life is accomplishing anything, or if I am merely living to work and working to live.

And if I discover this is the case, I will set up some ideals that will lead me to accomplishing real things.

And thus I will return from my vacation refreshed in body, renewed in spirit, with vigor and zest for the work that is ahead, and with higher aspirations, a broader outlook and a better understanding of the meaning and purpose of life.

And my vacation will thus yield me a joy that will last through the working year to come.

Barbara Boyd.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

RESPECTABLE THIEVES.

THE nice dressmaker lady, who is usually a most cheerful person, arrived at our house yesterday looking decidedly disturbed.

"What makes me look so blue?" in answer to my query. "Oh, nothing. Yes, I will tell you, Miss Cameron. The postman gave me this letter on my way down here."

And the dressmaker lady drew a little square envelope from her handbag; pulled out a dainty correspondence card, and read:

"My Dear Miss L—:

"I am SO sorry to tell you that I am taking a MOST unexpected trip with my husband and so cannot have you this week, as we planned. Will you let me know if you can let me have those three days some time next month?"

"Trusting that you and your mother are well and that this will not inconvenience you TOO greatly, I am,

"Very truly yours,

"These three days, Miss Cameron, are tomorrow, the next day, and the day after. It is too late, of course, for me to go anywhere else and that means a dead loss of nine dollars."

"I wouldn't mind so much if I had only myself to support, but you know I have mother to look after, and if I work every day in the week that's only eighteen dollars, and that's none too much when you consider dull seasons and sickness to be saved up for."

The woman who wrote that letter, as I happened to know, is a very well-to-do woman. One would hardly expect her to give up the trip with her husband because the dressmaker was engaged, but surely she might have paid at least part of the amount she must have known the dressmaker would lose.

"Why don't you insist that she pay you some of that money?" I asked.

"Oh, if I did that I'd lose her custom, and I can't afford to do that. She often takes twelve or fifteen days a year," answered the dressmaker. "No, I can't do anything. I have to reckon just so much loss that way every year."

I suppose that woman would be most indignant if she heard herself called "dishonorable."

And yet, I think she comes pretty close to being that.

And not only she but all the women who carelessly cancel engagements of this sort at the eleventh hour.

Our shampoo lady says she is actually considering giving up her telephone just to ward off the people who casually call up a day or a few hours before their appointment and say: "They are so sorry, but—"

Of course, there are times when it is impossible to meet such engagements, but if one had to pay when one failed to keep them I fancy such impossibilities would be very much rarer.

You would be horrified at the thought of stealing seventy-five cents from your shampooist, or two or three dollars from your dressmaker, wouldn't you?

And yet when you cancel an engagement in this way, what else are you doing?

Heart and Home Problems

BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Mrs. Thompson's mail is so large that she begs a little patience of her friends, the readers of this paper, who have written her. Every letter will receive her personal attention, but it is not always possible to answer it immediately.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—What will take a grease stain (from popcorn) from a green foulard satin dress? (2)—What will take perspiration stain out of the same dress? (3)—Is there any way to clean a raincoat that has become greasy?

BAIMA B.

(1)—If the dress is light green, rub with fuller's earth or cornstarch, brushing out and repeating until stain is gone. Or, put stain between pieces of blotting paper and press with warm (not hot) iron. (2)—Dissolve a little baking soda in water enough to make moderately strong solution and brush stain with this. (3)—You might try fuller's earth on this. It will require patience.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am eighteen and dearly in love with a young fellow just a few years older. I see him most every day coming home from work, but he does not recognize me, though I always recognize him.

Can I win his love? Is it foolish to think of him so much? He has a lot of girl friends, but in different towns.

HEARTBROKEN.

Dear girl, I must tell you that it is very foolish of you to think of a man who evidently does not care at all for you. If he does not recognize you it is a sure sign that he doesn't care to know you. So forget him and try to think of some man who shows that he thinks about you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson. Must I go through school to be a locomotive engineer? How long must I study? What is the average salary? What college or school can I go to?

ANXIOUS.

You ought to have a grammar school education before you attempt to be anything at all. Write to the offices of one of the big railroads, for full information.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been married a year, but am not living with my husband now. He wants me to go back to him, but he never seems to have enough money, though he draws a good salary. He drinks heavily. Please advise me what to do.

MABEL.

Tell him if he can stop drinking for six months that you will go back to him. Have him report to you every day, and give you enough money to support you. Be good friends with him, but be strict about the drinking and the money.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of fifteen, have blue eyes and light brown hair very thick, and long. My eyelashes are good but I have hardly any eyebrows. Can you tell me how to improve my eyebrows?

DORIS.

Brush them with yellow vaseline every night to make them grow. You can darken them a little with an eyebrow pencil, or if you can not get that, take the burned end of a match. But don't put on much or it will look bad.

HELPFUL HINTS.

A pine pillow or sweet grass basket may be renewed by steaming them.

Paint may be removed from window glass by the application of hot vinegar.

Turpentine will take ink stains from the most delicate fabric. Soak the stains over night or longer.

Sew lead weights into the hems of table covers or runners used on a porch. The wind will not disturb them.

A nice delicacy for luncheon is a crisp cracker spread with cottage cheese and garnished with a cherry on top.

When carrying a freshly-frosted cake, put a few toothpicks into the cake to keep the covering from sticking to it.

Dainty little baskets for flowers or favors may be made from old straw hats. These will delight the children, and they may help to make them.

If you have any faded roses or other flowers that need refreshing, use a little water color paint and a brush. The results will more than please.

When preserving peaches, take the broken bits and can together. This may be used (put through a ricer) for ice cream and other desserts.

The disposal of garbage in country places and small towns where no provision for its removal is made, is a constant worry. All substances which decompose may be put into a small hole in the garden, and after the hole is filled cover with dirt and forget all about it, nature will do the rest. Tin cans, glass and crockery cannot be thus disposed of, as they are unsightly. A hole in the ground is a good place for them if there are any, hollows and holes to be filled.

Filbert Butter.—Remove the coarse threads from hazel or filbert nuts and put through the meat grinder, then pound with a pestle in a wooden bowl until smooth. Cream as much butter as there is of the pounded nuts, add the nut paste gradually; season with paprika and use for sandwich filling.

A WOMAN'S OBSERVATIONS

Edna K. Woolley

WE'RE NO BETTER THAN OUR FEET.

For lo, these many years, we have hailed the chiropodist with sundry giggles and gurgles as one upon whom we have every right to heap ridicule. We have treated him with contempt, and have consulted him only when we had a foot-ill that proved too serious to ignore.

Somewhat, humanity has considered corns, aching feet and its various foot troubles as something too trivial for "doctoring" by a professional. It has grinned and borne what it could, and what it couldn't it took out in bad temper on the family.

Men have suffered chilblains as a family inheritance, and have religiously pared their corns as a daily duty. They have consulted together as to various bunion cures they have tried. They have trod gingerly and howled in anguish when somebody else rubbed against the tender spot. But the general run of mankind would as soon think of relieving its sufferings by enlisting the aid of a chiropodist as it formerly has been to consult a dentist.

Possibly, in time, the virtues of the chiropodist will be as well appreciated and as well appreciated as those of the dentist are today. We no longer regard the tooth doctor with ribaldry, as of yore. He is no longer the victim of our jokes. He has our entire respect—may, our love; and at the first pang we hasten to him for relief.

As with the teeth, so with the feet "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

This year's shoe styles, both for men and women are nearer the ounce of prevention than they have been for many a year.

Broad soles and low broad heels are becoming a fad. A shoe of comfortable size is the general demand. Canvas shoes are universally worn—it is astonishing how little leather one sees in footwear since the warm days came.

We may inveigh against the white canvas shoe as an expense because of its frequent need of cleaning, but it more than makes up for that expense in its sanitary value and the amount of foot comfort it gives.

The fad of white stockings, too, is excellent for the feet. All high-colored hose have a beneficial effect. More over the very fact that they show so quickly makes for good results, as more frequent change of stockings is required than if black would be worn.

Summer is the time of our most excruciating foot troubles, as a rule. We don't give our feet the ventilation they need, though we are learning to do this more than formerly. Give them the air they need, the room they need; and plenty of salt water baths; you'll soon be like the man whose indigestion is so perfect that he doesn't know he has a stomach—you won't know that you possess feet. And you won't be afraid to take a tramp in the country because you fear your feet will "go back on you."

If you have neglected and abused your poor tootsies until they're beyond the ounce of prevention, don't hesitate to have a chiropodist treat them for you. You will find that he is one of mankind's special blessings, and if you'll carefully follow his advice you will sing his praises for ever.

A great general once said that an army is no better than its stomach. But a man with good feet, and the man or woman whose pedal extremities are a misery will sooner or later develop the disposition, if not the stomach, of a dyspeptic.

A woman who marries a man with a corn has some real troubles ready-made for her. A man who takes a wife who is constitutionally addicted to tight shoes, might as well say good-by to peace of mind.

The great army of humanity is no better than its feet.

A CHATER FOR THE VEGETARIAN

Nuts were once regarded as a dainty, a luxury, only to be used between meals or to be given to the children on extra occasions, but times have changed, and today they are looked upon as first assistants to the forces of nature in imparting nutriment.

Nuts are the milk, meat and butter of the vegetarian, and when they compose the main article of diet, a gain in flesh is always observed. We have generally contented ourselves with serving them after dessert, and have consequently experienced an uncomfortable feeling and have declared that nuts are heavy and clog the system when in reality we have eaten two dinners owing to the richness of the nuts. Another reason for the complaint that nuts are indigestible is that many cannot properly masticate them. This should bring into prominence the value of the various nut butters that are almost a substitute for animal foods.

Nut butters—These delicacies may now be purchased in bulk as well as in jars; perfectly sterilized, it keeps indefinitely.

When needed place the desired quantity in a bowl and add a few drops of milk or water and beat with a fork until the right consistency. Almond, pistachio and mixed nut butter is now an important article of commerce.

Protose is a combination of nuts and cereals that non-meat eaters claim great things for. It is made into a meatless meat loaf and baked into croquettes and chops and served with nut sauce. It is appetizing and of fers a choice article of food to the housewife who is anxious to extend her repertoire of new dishes.

Protose Loaf—Break the protose with a fork, add salt and pepper, a bit of sage and thyme or other herbs, moisten with milk and pack into an oiled tin. Weigh this down and let stand in a cool place several hours, turn the contents out carefully and slice with a thin, sharp knife. Broil the slices and serve with tomatoes with nut butter or brown gravy.

Rice and nut butter; all cereals combine well with nuts but this is a particularly appetizing mixture. Steam the rice until the grains are tender, flavoring as usual, add cream or milk and cover until the liquid is absorbed, then mix the nut butter, chopped in tiny bits, with the rice. Use a fork for this so the grains will not be broken. Nut butter added to rice croquettes gives richness and splendid flavor.

Nut sauce for vegetables is made with two large tablespoons of nut butter thinned with milk and mixed with hot water, add a half a cup of tomato that has been stewed and strained. Cook about six minutes and thicken with a little flour.

Formal Spanish Courtesy. In Andalusian houses no refreshments are offered to callers except on the saint's day of the hostess, when a large trayful of dulces or cakes is handed around. These dulces are ornamented with little sugar images of saints and angels. If it is a first call that is being made, the hostess offers her house and everything it contains to the callers, who in reply bow, saying that the house is in the best hands in the world and that their only wish is that the present owner may long have health and happiness to enjoy it.

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist

MODERATE DRINKING WITH MEALS UNOBJECTIONABLE.

Recent investigations have shown that the almost universal proscription by the medical profession of drinking at meals needs some qualification, and also that the conclusion reached by Prof. Hawk of the University of Illinois, that liberal drinking at meal times is beneficial, is not to be generally accepted.

Much liquid dilutes the gastric fluid excessively and causes an undue secretion of it, which in many cases is to be carefully avoided. Much careful investigation has led to the conclusion that the more uniform the contents of the stomach, other things being equal, the better the digestion, and this applies also to the mixing of liquids, though to a less degree; but the chief objection to drinking freely while eating is the tendency to prevent proper mixture of the saliva and to reduce mastication. When water was placed near a dog's food, he never drank first, if he had not been running and never stopped while eating to drink, but always if he had eaten a full meal he would lap a little water and lie down.

There is no doubt that the sipping of a cup of water, not ice cold, or of cocoa or weak tea at the conclusion of a meal is unobjectionable.

New Use for Moving Pictures.

Moving pictures are used by a French scientist in the study of the deformation of metals when strongly compressed by the hydraulic press. In some cases he uses a brass tube of three inches diameter and .04 inches thickness of metal and observes the appearance of the surface when the tube is flattened out by pressure. Sometimes the tubes are filled with a liquid and then compressed. Various figures appear on the surface of the metal, and moving picture views are taken at the rate of 15 a second. By throwing the views on a screen it is easier to study the effects than by direct observation.

Salt's Value as Medicine.

As a medicine, salt has a wide range of possibilities. A weak solution of hot salt water used frequently, as a gargle is one of the best remedies known for sore throat in its incipient stage. The gargles must not be too strong, or it will act as an irritant and thus defeat the end in view.

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them With the New Drug.

An eminent skin specialist recently discovered a new drug, called Doublet, which is so uniformly successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold by Badger Drug Co. under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of Doublet and remove them. Even the first night's use will show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely. It is absolutely harmless, and cannot injure the most tender skin.

Be sure to ask Badger Drug Co. for the double strength Doublet; it is this that is sold on the money back guarantee.

BY WALT MASON

Selecting language riper than language needs to be, we roast the lily-typer from Cleveland to K. C. We daily place before him our badly written bits, with curly-cues that bore him and throw him into fits; with blots, erasures, splashes, and sprawlings chicken-treads, until the poor man thrushes his in- tellect to shreds, in efforts to determine what tongue it's written in, and whether it's a sermon, a poem or bulletin. And we, who do the scrawling, with fountain pen or spade, indulge in caterwauling about the errors made. "That heartless, top-eared viper, that sacrilegious sot, the swayed lily-typer, has spoiled my Gem of Thought! Oh, bring me hither, prithee, a cauldron full of oil, and by the village smithy I'll cook that son of toil! Or bring me rusty fetters—I'll make his bosom bleed who never learned his letters and yet pretends to read!" The patient lily-typer is

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, July 12, 1872.—Music By the Band.—The Bower City Band was favored with a large audience in the first ward last evening, and their efforts to give a good outdoor entertainment are appreciated by those who heard them. The desire expressed by many of our citizens to have the band continue their evening serenades will, perhaps, induce them to keep on with their pleasant entertainments.

Brief Items.—John Slightham and Oscar Brooks were both re-engaged, last night, as engineers of the five steamers. The choice is an excellent one, as they have proved their capacity by two years' service.

The young men of the city contemplate organizing a Grant club.

A blackbird shooting tournament is talked of by our sportsmen.

At the meeting of the "common council, last evening, the vote by which the order was passed at the last meeting of the common council, giving the firemen twenty dollars per year, was reconsidered. Alderman Eldredge moved that the report of the fire department committee on that subject be referred to a special committee of five—one from each ward, not members of the fire department. That the committee report at the next meeting, a proper compensation for firemen, chief and assistant engineers. Also to report names of members of such company, the amount of money paid by the city for the support of such company since its organization, the general management of the company and the feasibility of continuing the organization.

"This must be a prize—I've heard that collar buttons are so hard to find."

Bull Moose Grateful to One T. Roosevelt

"Oh, I was little known to fame,"
The shaggy Bull Moose said
"And some had never heard my name
Before this fellow Ted,
With pity in his breast for me
Did lead me forth one day
From dark and chill obscurity
To where Fame's sunbeam play.
One word from great T. R.
Did spread my fame afar.

"And so I say, let come what may."
"I'll never forget the man
Who made my name a household word
Within a day's short span
The Ted should travel up Salt Creek
And men forget his name.
Even then should I remember him,
And how he brought me fame.
Still would I shout afar,
Hoony for old T. R!"

"Nesting" Lifeboats.

One of the great transatlantic steamship companies has determined to make use of the system of carrying boats on deck known as "nesting." Nesting requires a boat of special construction, for the standard lifeboat could not be nested above two, or at the outside three, deep.

Very Emotional.
"Ever see one of these barefoot dancers? Their steps are symbolic; every step means something." "I saw one of 'em land on a tack one night. Her steps were full of meaning for the next few minutes."

A Reminder of Home.
A street fight is apt to remind some married men that there are other places like home.

The Skin and Not the Bigod.
Until recently it has been generally accepted theory that eczema was a disease of the blood. Scientific investigations have taught us that eczema is positively a skin disease and curable through the skin alone. Meritol Eczema Remedy is applied directly to the diseased skin, the effect is marvelous and its results permanent. Do not delay trying Meritol Eczema Remedy. Reliable Drug Co., Sole Agents.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS.—Their fellow guests are awfully reckless in their gambling.

Old South Carolina Church, St. Michael's, in Charleston, South Carolina, at the time of its completion, in 1761, was the finest church edifice in the United States, and one of the very few entirely of masonry construction, including the tower as far as the belfry. It now stands apparently as firm as the day it was dedicated. Work on it was begun in 1752. Like almost all the colonial churches, this one suffered vicissitudes during the Revolutionary war; its rector was a Tory and was compelled to resign, leaving the church affairs in a somewhat chaotic condition. Materially it suffered through the loss of its leaden roof, which was removed to furnish bullets for the colonial rifles.

A woman may vote as a stockholder on a railroad from one end of the country to the other; but if she sells her stock and buys a house with the money, has no voice in the laying out of the road before the door, which her house is taxed to keep and pay for.—George William Curtis.

The Three Guardsmen

... By ...
ALEXANDRE DUMAS

"That the thing was impossible, seeing that you were not at home, as he might perceive."
"Well, what did he say then?"
"That you must not fail to call upon him in the course of the day, and then he added in a low voice, 'Tell your master that his eminence is very well disposed toward him and that his fortune perhaps depends upon this interview.'"

"The snare is not very skillfully set for the cardinal," replied the young man, smiling.
"Oh, yes; I saw the snare, and I answered you would be quite in despair on your return."
"Where is he gone to?" asked M. de Carols.

"To Troyes, in Champagne," I answered.
"And when did he set out?"
"Yesterday evening."

"Planchet, my friend," interrupted D'Artagnan, "you are really a jewel of a man. In a quarter of an hour we will set off."
"Where are we going, may I ask, without being too curious?"
"In the opposite direction to that which you said I was gone. So, then, pack up our necessities, Planchet, and let us be off. On my part, I will go out with my hands in my pockets; that nothing may be suspected. You can join me at the Hotel des Gardes."

D'Artagnan directed his steps toward the residences of his three friends. No news had been received of them, only a letter, all perfumed, and of an elegant writing in small characters, was come for Aramis. D'Artagnan took charge of it. Ten minutes afterward Planchet joined him at the stables of the Hotel des Gardes. D'Artagnan, in order that there might be no time lost, had saddled his horse himself.

"That's well," said he to Planchet, when the latter added the porthouse to the equipment; "now saddle the other three horses."
"Do you think, then, monsieur, that we shall travel faster with two horses apiece?" said Planchet, with his cunning air.

"No, master joker," replied D'Artagnan, "but with our four horses we may bring back our three friends, if we should have the good fortune to find them living."
Our two travelers arrived at Chantilly without any accident and alighted at the hotel of the Grand St. Martin, the same they had stopped at on their first journey. The host on seeing a young man followed by a lackey with two led horses advanced respectfully to the door. Now, as they had already traveled eleven leagues, D'Artagnan thought it time to stop, whether Porthos were or were not in the hotel. And then perhaps it would not be prudent to ask at once what had become of the musketeer. D'Artagnan gave the horses to the care of his lackey, entered a small room destined to receive such as wished to be alone and desired the host to bring him a bottle of his best wine and as good a breakfast as possible.

D'Artagnan was served with miraculous celerity. The host desired to wait upon him himself, which D'Artagnan perceiving, ordered two glasses to be brought and commenced the following conversation:
"My good host, let us drink to the prosperity of your establishment."
"Your lordship does me much honor," said the host, "and I thank you sincerely for your kind wish. I was thinking that it was not the first time I had had the honor of seeing monsieur."

"I was here only ten or twelve days ago. I was conducting some friends, three or four musketeers, one of whom by the by, had a dispute with a stranger, an unknown, a man who sought a quarrel with him for I don't know what."
"Ah, exactly so," said the host. "I remember it perfectly. Is it not M. Porthos, that your lordship means?"
"Yes; that is my companion's name. I hope nothing has happened to him? He promised to rejoin us, and we have seen nothing of him."
"He has done us the honor to remain here. We are even a little uneasy on account of certain expenses he has been at."

"Well, but whatever expenses he may have incurred I am sure he is in a condition to pay them."

"Ah, monsieur, you infuse balm into my mind. We have been warned."

"Well, can I see Porthos?"
"Certainly, monsieur. Take the stairs on your right; go up the first flight and knock at No. 1. Only warn him that it is you."

"Warn him! Why should I do that?"
"M. Porthos may imagine you belong to the house, and in a fit of passion might run his sword through you or blow out your brains."

"What have you done to him, then?"
"We asked him for money."

"Ah, I can understand that. It is a demand that Porthos takes very ill when he is not in funds; but I know he ought to be so at present."

"We thought so, too, monsieur, as our concern is carried on very regularly, and we make our bills every week, at the end of eight days we presented our account, but at the first word on the subject he sent us to all the devils. It is true he had been playing the day before with some gentleman who was traveling this way, to whom he proposed a game of lansquenet."

"That's it, then; and the foolish fellow has lost all he had."
"Even to his horse, monsieur."

"That's Porthos all over," murmured D'Artagnan.

"Then," continued the host, "I replied that I hoped he would have at least the kindness to grant the favor of his custom to my brother host of the Aigle d'Or, but M. Porthos replied that my hotel being the best, he should remain where he was."

"I confined myself then to begging him to give up his chamber, which is the handsomest in the hotel, and to be satisfied with a pretty little closet on the third floor. But to this M. Porthos replied, that he every moment expected his mistress, who was one of the greatest ladies of the court. Nevertheless, I thought proper to insist, but he took one of his pistols, laid it on his table and said and said that at the first word that should be spoken to him about removing he would blow out my brains. So from that time, monsieur, nobody enters his chamber but his servant."

"What! Mousqueton is here, then?"
"Oh, yes, monsieur! Unfortunately he is more nimble than his master and sets us all at defiance. He takes all he wants without asking."

"Porthos will pay you."
"Hum!" said the host in a doubting tone.

"Why, it is not to be imagined that the favorite of a great lady will be allowed to be inconvenienced for such a paltry sum as he owes you."

"If I durst say what I believe on that head, or rather, what I know!"
"How did you become acquainted with her?"

"Oh, monsieur, if I could believe I might trust in your discretion!"
"Speak. By the word of a gentleman you shall have no cause to repent of your confidence."

"Instead of putting a certain letter in the post, which is never safe, I took advantage of one of my lads being going to Paris, and I ordered him to convey the letter to this duchess himself. This was fulfilling the intentions of M. Porthos, who had desired us to be so careful of this letter, was it not?"

"Nearly so."
"Well, monsieur, do you know who this pretended duchess is?"
"I don't know her."

"Why, she is the wife of a lawyer of the Chatelet, monsieur, named Mme. Coquenard; who, although she is at least fifty, still gives herself jealous airs. She flew into a great passion on receiving the letter, saying that M. Porthos was a fickle, inconstant man, and that she was sure it was on account of some woman he had received this wound."

"What! has he been wounded, then?"
"Yes, but he has been felled by me so strictly to say so!"
"And why so?"

"Zounds, monsieur, only because he had boasted that he would perforate the stranger with whom you left him in dispute where he pleased, whereas the stranger, on the contrary, quickly brought him on his back. The affair was not long, I assure you. They placed themselves in guard, the stranger made a feint and a lunge and that so rapidly that when M. de Porthos came to the parade he had already three inches of steel in his breast. Upon which the stranger asked his name, and, learning that it was Porthos and not M. D'Artagnan, he assisted him to rise, brought him back to the hotel, mounted his horse, and disappeared. I have not seen him since."

"Well, well," said D'Artagnan, "Porthos will pay you with the money of the Duchess Coquenard."

"Oh, monsieur! She positively answered that she was tired of the exigencies and infidelities of M. Porthos and that she would not send him a denier."

"And did you convey this answer to your guest?"
"We took good care not to do that. He would have found out how we had delivered the letter."

"So that he is still in expectation of his money?"
"Oh, yes, monsieur! Yesterday he wrote again, but it was his servant who this time put his letter in the post."

"Do you say the woman is old and ugly?"
"Fifty at least, monsieur, and not at all handsome, according to Porthos's account."

"In that case you may be quite at ease. She will soon be softened. Besides, Porthos cannot owe you much."

"How, not much! Twenty good pistoles already, without reckoning the doctor."

"Never mind. If his mistress abandons him he will find friends. I will do as with whom I meant to finish by a fourth, I put my foot on a stone, slipped and strained my knee. I shall be about again in a few days."

"Why did you not have yourself conveyed to Paris? Living here must be cruelly wearisome."

"That was my intention, but, my dear friend, I have one thing to confess to you. As I had the 75 pistoles in my pocket which you had distributed to me, in order to amuse myself I invited a gentleman who was traveling this way to walk up and proposed a cast of dice to him. He accepted my challenge, and my 75 pistoles quickly passed from my pocket to his without reckoning my horse, which he won into the bargain."

"Have you not your duchess, who cannot fail to come to your assistance?"
"Well, you see, my dear D'Artagnan," replied Porthos, "with the most careless air in the world I wrote to her to send me fifty louis or so, of which I stood absolutely in need on account of my accident. She must be at her country seat, for she has not answered me."

"Indeed!"
"No; so I yesterday addressed another letter to her still more pressing than the first, but you are come, my dear fellow, let us speak of you. I confess I began to be very uneasy on your account."

"But your host behaves very well toward you, as it appears, friend Porthos," said D'Artagnan, directing the sick man's attention to the little step-pans and the empty bottles.

"Not at all," said Porthos. "This miserable strain confines me to my bed, but Mousqueton forages and brings in provisions."

D'Artagnan then related how Aramis, being wounded, was obliged to stop at Crevecoeur, how he had left Athos fighting at Amiens with four men who accused him of being a coward, and how he, D'Artagnan, had been forced to run the Count de Wardes through the body in order to reach England.

But there the confidence of D'Artagnan stopped; he only added that on his return from Great Britain he had brought back four magnificent horses, one for himself and one for each of his companions. Then he informed Porthos that the one which was intended for him was already installed in the stable of the hotel.

At this moment Planchet entered to inform his master that the horses were sufficiently refreshed and that it would be possible to sleep at Clermont.

Porthos said that, according to all probability, his sprain would not permit him to depart yet awhile. Besides, it was necessary he should stay at Chantilly, to wait for the answer from his duchess.

D'Artagnan wished that that answer might be prompt and favorable, and after having again recommended Porthos to the care of Mousqueton and paid his expenses at the hotel, he resumed his route with Planchet, who was already relieved of one of his led horses.

CHAPTER XX.
Aramis' Thesis.

D'ARTAGNAN had appeared to believe all that Porthos had told him, convinced that no friendship will hold out against a surprised secret, particularly when pride is deeply interested in that secret. Now, in his projects of intrigue for the future and determined as he was to make his three friends the instruments of his fortune, D'Artagnan was not sorry at getting in his grasp beforehand the invisible strings by which he reckoned upon moving them.

And yet as he journeyed along a profound sadness weighed upon his heart. He thought of young and pretty Mme. Bonacieux. He feared that some serious misfortune had befallen the poor woman. He had no doubt she was a victim of the cardinal's vengeance, and, as was well known, the vengeance of his eminence was terrible.

At the Crevecoeur Inn, where he had left Aramis, it was not a host, but a hostess who received him. D'Artagnan was a physiognomist. His eye took in at a glance the plump, cheerful countenance of the mistress of the place, and he at once perceived there was no occasion for dissembling with her.

"My good dame," asked D'Artagnan, "can you tell me what is become of one of my friends whom we were obliged to leave here about twelve days ago?"

"A handsome young man, three or four and twenty years old, mild, amiable and well made?"

"Have you not your duchess, who cannot fail to come to your assistance?"
"Well, you see, my dear D'Artagnan," replied Porthos, "with the most careless air in the world I wrote to her to send me fifty louis or so, of which I stood absolutely in need on account of my accident. She must be at her country seat, for she has not answered me."

"Indeed!"
"No; so I yesterday addressed another letter to her still more pressing than the first, but you are come, my dear fellow, let us speak of you. I confess I began to be very uneasy on your account."

THE LOVE OF MONEY A ROOT OF ALL EVIL.

Wealth Itself Not Condemned,
but the Love of It.

Pastor Russell Advises All to Be Rich
Toward God by Serving Others.
Says Love of Money is Growing
Stronger, Bringing "Moth and Rust" to Our Civilization.

Toronto, Canada, July 7.—Representatives of Bible Students Classes from all over Canada in Convention here for a week adjourned that they might hear Pastor Russell today at Royal Alexandra Theatre. Needless to say that, as always, he had a large and attentive audience. He spoke twice. We report his discourse from St. Luke xii, 21: "So is he that layeth up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God."

After calling attention to the fact that there never was such a day as ours for the accumulation of wealth, Pastor Russell declared that the wealth itself was not condemned by our Lord, but the love of it: "The love of money is a root of all evil." Nor should he be understood to be a denouncer of wealth and the wealthy. The outpour of Divine favor in the multiplying inventions of our day had poured wealth into the lap of some out of all proportion to their covetousness. Indeed, some of the most covetous people the Pastor knew were poor people who seemed so anxious to get rich that their overstraining led them into numerous financial pitfalls and kept them poor. The happiest people in the world, he said, are those who have "godliness with contentment—great gain." These are rich toward God, for they possess what money cannot purchase—contentment and the peace of God.

Pastor Russell Reported Wealthy.

Many such people, with heavily mortgaged properties, come to me under the supposition that I am rich. Indeed, I am told that I have the reputation of being fabulously rich. When at Corinth I learned that the report was current that I was reputed to be a multi-millionaire and that my library alone was worth millions. Servants and porters, of course, expected tips to correspond with that reputation and I was compelled to seem ungenerous.

Indeed, I learned that even in America I am credited with being very rich. If other people's books sell for one or two dollars per volume and mine are sold by the Bible Students Society for one-sixth the price, in order to put them into the hands of the people, it is surmised that I must reap a royalty of millions, whereas I receive nothing. I do not mind telling you, my fellow-Bible-Students, that long years ago I took the advice that Jesus gave in our context. I recognized the trifle of wealth in my possession as a stewardship, the proper use of which in God's service might make me rich toward God. I invested all that I had in His service and spent it all long ago. I became a spender instead of an accumulator of money. Others, perceiving my ability as a spender, have since been putting into my hands for similar use such of their consecrated means as they desired so to use.

In proportion as the money has come in it has gone out in the service of God's Word, in the service of those hungering and thirsting after the Truth. The Lord is blessing His work in every direction. We never lack. We never solicit. Our experience is more or less contagious. Many others are learning to be rich toward God by not holding too tightly to earthly riches.

"Go to, Now, Ye Rich Men."

St. James, by Divine inspiration, uttered a word of warning to the rich of our day. No longer do the rich add barn to barn. That is too slow a way. Now they add bond to bond and bank to bank. With many of them, money-grabbing has become a disease. They are to be pitied. Accustomed to the battlings of trade they have no other pleasure in life. A few of them turn pleasure-hunters; but, alas, they rarely are pleasure-finders, for he who seeks to please himself rarely succeeds.

I shall not address this audience as wealthy and urge you to spend all surplus wealth and spend it rapidly in the service of God, in the service of humanity, before it takes wings, before it becomes a cancer.

Why not? Because I shall assume that as true Bible Students you have, not great wealth to dispose of. I would assume that either like myself you have disposed of your stewardship, or that you were perhaps blessed by never possessing more than a competency. I would, however, urge upon you the general principle of our Lord's teaching, that the possession of money in any amount more than meets our necessities is a stewardship, and that each has a responsibility toward the Lord for the use of such a talent, whether large or small.

To each one of the Lord's covenanted household found faithful He will say, "Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord"—into the Kingdom which shortly is to bless and uplift the world of mankind.

THEATERS

Oberholfer—Poet-Conductor.

Emil Oberholfer, conductor of the famous Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra has been called by a prominent critic "America's Poet-Conductor" and true it is that while his interpretations are virile and vivid as occasion may require, he has that rare faculty of weaving a spell over his audience by reason of his power of bringing out the inner poetic spirit of the works of the masters of music. It is this faculty of fusing the minds and performances of the splendid body of musicians that make up his orchestra into what may be called a wonderfully eloquent instrument, that has placed him among the recognized great conductors of the world and has won for the Minneapolis Orchestra its position as one of America's three greatest orchestras. This recognition has come to Mr. Oberholfer and his remarkable orchestra wherever they have appeared and public, critics and musicians have vied with each other in enthusiasm.

The loyalty of Minneapolis to the Orchestra and Mr. Oberholfer is reflected in the subscription for a term of years of an annual guarantee of $65,000, and the recent giving of $800,000, for a new combined Orchestra and Art Museum, which is to furnish a permanent home for the Orchestra. This famous Orchestra will give one concert at Myers Theatre, Thursday evening July 18.

MEMBERS OF ALABAMA BAR HOLDING ANNUAL MEETING.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Montgomery, Ala., July 12.—The thirty-fifth annual meeting of the Alabama State Bar Association began in the senate chamber of the Capitol today and will conclude tomorrow with a session at Jackson's Lake. The attendance is unusually large and the program one of the best ever prepared for a meeting of the association. Heading the list of speakers are Governor Emmet O'Neal, Judge John Pelham of the Alabama court of appeals and Alfred P. Thom of Washington, D. C.

Women to Discuss Missions. Ottumwa, Ia., July 12.—Several hundred delegates from Iowa and Missouri points gathered here today for the opening of the third quarterly meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Des Moines M. E. conference. Many prominent missionary workers of the church are on the program and three returned missionaries will give addresses on the work in China and Burmah.

DINNER STORIES

In Savannah, Georgia, some visitors kneeled and muttering the usual fondly chartered an old sea-going back to the days of the Civil War.

Tommy aged nine, and a baseball enthusiast, sat on the other side of the hearth studying the evening paper's reports and trying not to listen. As they were nearing Mrs. Bannon's place, which is four miles from Savannah, a squirrel appeared in the road.

"George," said one, after all had noticed the squirrel, "do you have any big game around here?" "Yas, indeed, sah," replied the negro. "We has baseball."

Mother was dandling baby on her foolish remarks.

"O-oh, little wee petsy-wetsy!" chanted mother. "Mumsey's little darling and day's darling! Um's precious um is! Mumsey wouldn't sell you for a million dollars!" Tommy felt it was time he spoke. "Oh, mother!" he said, reprovingly. "A million dollars! Why, Barney Dreyfuss only paid $22,000 for O'Toole!"

Two tourists were traveling in Spain, but they could not speak the native language and found considerable difficulty in making known their wants.

Eventually they came to a wayside inn and decided they would partake of roast beef with the usual trimmings.

"How shall we manage it," asked one. "Oh, we'll draw a picture of a bull!" replied the other. The waiter was handed the drawing and left them, apparently to execute their order. Then he came back, but he had no steaming plate of roast beef and Yorkshire. Instead, he calmly handed them two tickets for a bull-fight!

Ready to Race at Windsor. Windsor, Ont., July 12.—The officials of the Windsor Jockey Club predict that the summer race meeting to open tomorrow will be one of the most successful meetings ever conducted here. The liberal offering of stakes and purses has attracted an unusually large number of fast horses from the most prominent stables of Canada and the United States. The meeting will last through the coming week.
